Miss Daly City

CINDY CARTWRIGHT was crowned Miss Daly City at the annual pageant Saturday night at the Serramonte High School Little Theater. Runners up were Sandra Howard, first, and Linda Sam, second. Marilyn Wong was named Miss Congeniality. Miss Cartwright received a $250 scholarship from the Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce, a $1,000 wardrobe from J. M. McDonald's of Serramonte and a $100 cash award from Serramonte Music Center among other prizes.

Daly City Keeps Trying To Salvage Recreation Program

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The City of Daly City may exhume part of its summer recreation program buried when the Board of Trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District cut off some $49,000 in funds several months ago, the Post has learned.

Monies for the recreation program will be taken from federal revenue sharing funds the fity is expected to receive — a plan that appears at this time to be acceptable to both City Manager David Rose—and the majority of the council.

Some months ago, Rowe had said he would seek partial funding of the recreation program, which was held at 13 school sites in the district and provided various programs for thousands of children, "from some other source."

Rowe's statements on the matter came in the wake of the JESD decision to cut off their contributions to the city and "go it alone."

Asked how much money the city would shift to the program, one councilman, who asked not to be identified until the matter was made public, said "at least as much as we intend to give the Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber this year will receive $21,000 on the recommendation of Rowe.

Even with this amount, however, some of the program will have to be cut back, it was learned.

Feelers were expected to be put out to the JESD asking for them to share part of the burden — perhaps $15.000 — for salaries of supervisors and assistant supervisors at school grounds.

These suipervisors oversee activities.

The decision to fund the project from federal revenue sharing monies comes in the wake of a heated debate between Mayor McRobert Stewart and councilman William Schumacher on the subject at a regular public meeting May 28.

What had started as a relatively quiet discussion concerning the upcoming city budget suddenly erupted into a shouting match between Stewart and Schumacher.

During the public forum part of the night's lengthy agenda, tavern owner George Kirchhubel began questioning the budget, but cut himself off by noting time was running short and he would return to ask Rowe and the council about the matter at a later date.

However, councilman Schumacher indicated he wanted that part of the city budget regarding curtailment of some recreation programs discussed then and there.

Schumacher allowed that if the city could find money to increase the Chamber of Commerce's budget from last year's $7,400 to some $21,000, it should be able to fully fund the recreation program.

Stewart, in responding to Schumacher, said the city "can't get the (JESD) out of their financial problems" and suggested that if Schumacher was concerned over the problems in the school district "why don't you attend their budget sessions."

Stewart then asked what the school district intended doing with the five cent tax levied under a special recreation-Civic Center fund for recreation programs?

There was no response.

Wednesday, Schumacher told The Post he felt "both sides in this (recreation) issue have acted immature."

He blamed both Rowe and school district superintendent Keith Breon and members of the school board "for getting on their high horses" and jeopardizing the program that "benefits thousands during the summer."

"It isn't too late if we act now on this," Schumacher said.

Councilman and former mayor Tony Giammona, Victor Kyriakis and Stewart agreed they will push for at least partial funding of the program.

It's Up to the Council

A Scramble for Revenue Sharing

It took slightly less than 44 minutes for representatives of government and civic agencies to apply for some $1.3 million in federal revenue sharing funds before the Daly City City Council Monday.

The city will receive only $434,374 in funds during the Fifth Entitlement Period, it was learned.

It will now be up to the City Council to determine, partly on staff recommendation, what projects are funded.

Councilman Paul Hupf noted that of the 10 agencies and departments appearing before the council for funds, only two — the Guadalupe Health Clinic and Daly City Nutrition Program — were "outside" city agencies.

He asked that City Manager David Rowe do a "little more home work" on assessing those organizations that should be funded.

Rowe pointed out that he merely complies with federal regulations concerning the expenditures by forwarding all requests to the council which must make the final determination.

Hupf allowed he felt the requests all "seem to be worthy projects," but maintained more thought should go into who gets what share of the federal pie.

Also included in the fund request was some $65,608 for the city funded community service center operation (formerly the Information & Referral Center) to defray costs of providing services to the poor and aged.

Mayor McRobert Stewart in coming to Rowe's defense said the department heads submitting the list of their needs feel justified in these requests "and it is incumbent on the council to make the (final) decision."

One of the largest requests is for $130,000 for construction of eight tennis courts on the top of the new reservoir 5B in the Serramonte area above the shopping center.

There are also requests for $30,000 to develop Camelot Park.

A group of homeowners in the area and their children, displaying appropriate placards supporting construction of the tot lot, appeared at Monday's meeting, led by Jerry White.

The fire department needs a new 1500 GPM (gallons per minute) pumper, according to Fire Chief Keith Schrock.

Schrock said the truck would replace two reserve

RESCUE WORKERS lifted Royal Oxford, 35, of Sunnyvale from a pipeline ditch in South San Francisco Thursday after he was trapped for more than 15 minutes by a cave-in. Oxford was buried in the 12-foot deep trench on Westborough Boulevard shortly before noon and was rushed to Mary's Help Hospital, Daly City, for treatment of multiple internal injuries and a crushed chest. He was reported to be in critical condition.

Sewer Charge Expected to Be Lowered

That new sewer service charge for Daly City homeowners is expected to be officially lowered from $36 to $29 at a meeting of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District Board of Directors later this month.

Following two separate meetings Monday — the first at 1 p.m. and the second at 5:30 p.m. — the board openly voiced its decision to revise previous charges downward for apartment house owners and homeowners.

At the same time, it upped the charges for commercial facilities, based on a flat $29 fee and a sliding scale based on water usage.

For example: a restaurant would be charged a flat $29 annual fee, plus varying amounts determined on water usage.

These amounts would be multiples of the $29 figure, such as $14.50 plus $29, or $7.25 plus $29.

The consensus of the board and staff was that this is a more equitable method of computing the sewer service tax than had heretofore been presented during a public hearing in May.

At the May meeting, held at 1 p.m. in the Westlake Community Clubhouse near the Sanitation District offices, some two dozen homeowners and repressntatives of commercial and apartment house businesses, protested the sewer service rates.

Additionally, under the new rate schedule senior citizens and low income families, will be given consideration on their fees similar to that offered by the State Franchise Tax Board.

More than 350 persons attended the May meeting, primarily to protest the proposed tax.

It was explained by the staff and sanitation district directors that the community could qualify for up to 82½ per cent in federal and state funding for an expanded treatment plant — if they acted immediately.

Otherwise, the community would be required to pay the entire cost of the $6 million treatment plant.

And it was not a question of whether the plant was needed or not, chairman McRobert Stewart said.

"We have been directed by the State Water Quality Control Board to upgrade our (sewage) treatment or face stiff monetary penalties," Stewart told the assembled crowd.

It was simply a matter of paying 12½ per cent and

Redevelopment Model Reviewed

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Members of the Daly City Redevelopment Project Area Committee Wednesday reviewed Santa Cruz' award winning Private Revitalization Of Downtown (PROD) project during its regular meeting at city hall.

The visual-audio presentation was given by Dr. Mannie Shaffer, a University of Santa Cruz professor connected to the program.

Dr. Shaffer told the 21 member committee how the downtown area was revitalized through do-it-yourself type projects with little or no federal aid.

Rather than tearing down old structures, they were spruced up and enhanced by extensive landscaping, Dr. Shaffer said.

Through the use of a slide presentation, Dr. Shaffer showed "before and after" shots of similar projects throughout the United States.

He emphasized that the PROD program with its "PROD Squad" workers, was a separate agency from the city's Redevelopment Agency — an agency that has been in existence in Santa Cruz since 1959.

Dr. Shaffer said simple things, such as repainting and refacing buildings; enforcement of strict sign laws; and community cooperation, could dramatically revitalize business in downtown areas — business that the newer shopping centers had taken away as older shopping areas deteriorated.

Through self-starter type projects, building planter boxes and attractive window displays, decayed shopping streets were turned into handsome malls, Dr. Shaffer said.

Dr. Shaffer warned that each community must formulate its own plan, a plan that would adapt to local needs.

Santa Cruz' PROD program, as it was carried out, may not be good for any

Plumbing Code May Be Changed

Three hours after they began discussing the proposed Uniform Plumbing Code Monday night Daly City Councilmen moved to continue the issue until July 1.

At that time the council, after staff meetings with its legal counsel and members of various groups concerned with the plumbing codes, will make its determination whether to allow use of plastic pipes and other plastic-type fixtures in homes.

Monday's meeting was the third in a series of hearings on the code.

Manufacturers of plastic plumbing fixtures and construction company representatives say their products — which they claim are cheaper than conventional cast iron type fixtures and equally as safe — should be allowed to be installed in Daly City structures.

To a point, the City Engineer David Macabee agrees.

But members of the city's professional staff, including Fire Chief Keith Schrock, side with Plumbers and Steamfitters Union Business Manager Tom Hunter in denouncing the plastic

BART Extension Rapped

Expanding the BART rapid transit system through San Mateo County to Menlo Park has been strongly criticized by a Stanford University student research report.

Extension of the line was called "too ambitious, costly and late" compared with improving Southern Pacific rail and Greyhound bus commute service upgrading in the report.

The red-covered volume from Stanford Workshops on Political and Social Issues (SWOPSI) was officially released Monday, although it has been on sale for some time around the area.

According to estimates the extension would cost as much as $900 million, a figure which may be too high for the county to legally finance, even with federal aid. Moreover, the project would take ten years to build while its transportation benefits are needed immediately, the study says.

In contrast, estimates for upgrading the commuter trains run around $135 million, not including much smaller investments for improving bus lines and wide-spread development of car pools, it continues.

Stanford graduate and undergraduate students in engineering and business spent a year studying records and talking with BART officials, builders and consultants, and with businessmen, newspapermen, transportation experts, financial analysts and tax men before compiling their highly critical, 78-page report.

"BART encourages a land use pattern which increases transportation demand," the report says. "On a regional scale, BART seems to have had the effect of redistributing activities so that increased residential densities are occurring in Central Contra Costa and Southern Alameda Counties, and increased office construction is occurring downtown.

"The result is that bedroom communities develop in the suburbs while jobs are located in a central business district. This segmented land use pattern has had the effect of encouraging more use of transportation."

On the other hand the report contends that BART will have a minimal effect upon automobile use and traffic volume.

"Only 10 percent of the people living along the BART route are projected to take the system to work. The majority of traffic is local, which BART fails to serve."

The SWOPSI study also points out that the Peninsula extension of BART originally was to be just a spur line from Daly City to the San Francisco airport. When it was found that this would cost as much as $400 million, BART consultants realized San Mateo County voters would never tax themselves that much for a mere eight-mile line that would serve San Francisco and the airport more than it would the county.

"To solve the financing dilemma," says the report, "the consultants claimed that BART could be expanded through San Mateo County to Menlo Park for an additional $300 million, and

San Bruno Mountain Plan Study Authorized

Hiring of a San Francisco firm at a maximum cost of $5,000 to evaluate the transportation element of the proposed general plan for development of San Bruno Mountain has been authorized by the San Mateo the Board of Supervisors.

County Planning Director Donald A. Woolfe said last week that the work, to be done by JHK and Associates, will be an "evaluation, not planning" to assist county planning and engineering staffs in the review of the transportation component of the plan.

Supervisor Robert St. Clair questioned the necessity of going outside the county to hire a consulting firm, asking if such firms are not available in the county.

in the process gain the support of county residents. Since then, the estimate has jumped to $500 million.

"The current estimate of BART extension in San Mateo County is significantly understated," the report continues. "The cost of BART extension from Daly City to Redwood City is estimated at $794 million. If the line is built as far south as Menlo Park, the cost rises to $809 million.

"The estimate does not include the $50 million 'buy in' cost to join the BART District, which would be the county's payment for use of the original system. This brings the estimate to $859 million. Including 6 per cent inflation for 1974 to 1977 would add an additional $138 million. . . .

"In addition, the (San Mateo County Transit Development) Project proposed abandonment of SP service south of the BART terminal. The cost of improved bus service to replace the SP is estimated by the project at $6 million. Thus a figure of $1.003 billion might be a more accurate estimate.

On the other hand alternatives to a BART extension have almost everything to recommend them, the study continues.

SP upgrading could be done for a fraction of the BART costs, would not encourage abnormally fast growth or development, and could be largely instituted at once or within two years. Bus services could be improved and integrated soon at reasonable cost, car pools could be organized on a wide scale, and more firms could stagger working hours.

The big problem in upgrading the SP is not technical but political, the report contends. The biggest hurdle is that of convincing the SP and government agencies that service improvements must be made.

"The Project's decision to allow the SP to abandon service south of a BART terminal coincides with the SP's position on the issue," the study charges. "By doing so the Project is allowing the SP to determine public policy to the detriment of citizens on the San Francisco Peninsula.

"Considered to be among America's best-run railroads, the SP today is more than a railroad. It also has truck lines, pipelines, a marine shipping line, and a land development company—in SP's own words, 'a total transportation system.' At a time when other railroads are going bankrupt, the SP had a profit of over $100 million in 1973.

"Why the SP chose to get out of the passenger business is not entirely clear; the most reasonable explanation being that it was a simple business decision — the service was losing money and since patronage was declining they saw no potential for profit.

"SP cooperation might be realized," the report states, if it is made clear to the company that "BART will not be extended down the Peninsula and SP will be forced to operate the system for the foreseeable future.

"Given this predicament, a public agency could provide the SP with an 'out': cooperation with a transit agency which would subsidize capital expenditure improvements and perhaps operating losses.

The transportation study report is available by writing SWOPSI, Room 590A Old Union, Stanford plumbing fixtures and piping as potentially dangerous.

The opponents say these fixtures not only mar easily and crack, but allegedly contribute to a fire's growth and give off toxic fumes.

Hunter says the council should not "legislate dangers into a home" and asked the current plumbing codes be left, for the most part, untouched.

Hunter presented considerable background material on the alleged dangers of the plastics to support his opposition.

Macabee suggested Hunter's stake in the issue was that he represented the plumbers, but said Hunter was forgetting the "home handyman" who may want to install his own plastic piping and fixtures in his home.

Councilman Paul Hupf at one point in the night-long hearing disagreed with a statement in the proposed code that would allow the city engineer to determine what type plumbing fixtures went into a building.

This section would give Macabee the prerogative to say when and where the plastic piping could go.

Instead, it was later suggested the City Council have final say in the use of such materials.

Observers saw this rewording of the section as perhaps opening a Pandora's Box of problems each and every time a new piece of piping or plastic fixture came onto the market.

Mayor McRobert Stewart asked Macabee if the city code covering plastic tubs and showers had been in effect in the past.

After considerable discussion from Macabee and his deputy building inspector, Robert Smith, it was learned there were no provisions in the codes for this material.

"I don't see what's objectionable about this code," Councilman Victor Kyriakis said, in pointing up the fact that all Hunter wanted was that the code to ban those plastic items capable of giving off toxic fumes and contributing to fire progress.

The council, after listening to testimony from both sides and watching a demonstration on the fire retardency of plastic shower stall material, put on by a manufacturers' representative, directed City Atty. Albert Polonsky to redraft certain sections of the code and then re-submit them to the council for action.

Polonsky and Macabee also were instructed to contact concerned agencies for input on the issue.

Once that hearing ended, the council tackled the Uniform Fire and Electrical codes in short order — passing ordinances on both.

The much talked about sprinkler systems called for under the new fire codes, and opposed by some developers, passed with only a slight modification in the wording, concerning the right of entry into a home if there is the possibility an emergency exists within.

other city, Dr. Shaffer said.

The "PROD Squad," normally made up of young or retired craftsmen, are assigned only to those homes occupied by low income owner-occupants who cannot afford to call in regular contractors, Dr. Shaffer said.

Cooperation between these workers and the unions "has always been excellent," Dr. Shaffer said, "as long as we work only on a small scale — perhaps one or two homes at a time."

He credited a "Mr. Abbot" with starting the PROD program on a rather small scale in 1967.

Soon the community caught up the spirit of what Mr. Abbott was trying to do. Today Santa Cruz is considered a model project.

Mr. Abbott died last year at age 82 "still working a full day on his beloved program," Dr. Shaffer said.

In the years Abbott worked on the PROD Squad he roamed throughout the state convincing absentee landlords of the value of his plans.

Most agreed and fixed up their properties.

An old railroad station was turned into a profitable restaurant. Homes were restored to their original status. And businesses were brought up to city building codes.

The results were bigger and more profitable businesses, thus additional revenues to the city, Dr. Shaffer pointed out.

A new sign law, meanwhile, came into being and was amortized over a period of seven years.

Teh Daly City council soon will have a proposed sign ordinance before it, and merchants are asking for "grandfathering" clauses and long amortization.

Both sides are now attempting to hammer out agreement on how long some of the city's signs along Mission Street, San Jose Avenue and Junipero Serra Boulevard — in the heart of the project area — are to be allowed to stand and what should replace them.

The PROD project was able to operate without stiff opposition because "we allowed the people living in the area to remain there," Dr. Shaffer said.

"Once a project of this sort starts, it spreads like a disease," Dr. Shaffer noted.

"We are rather proud of what we have accomplished in Santa Cruz," he said.

taking advantage of state and federal monies.

Furthermore, Stewart noted, for a slight extra charge the plant could add on a reclamation unit and later sell reclaimed water to nearby cemeteries, golf courses and parks.

The sale of this reclaimed water might even pay for the operation and maintenance of the facility, it was pointed out.

If the district passes the resolution adopting the new tax rate in June, it will show up on homeowners tax assessment bills this December, according to district officials.

Daly City Youth Shot in Bar Robbery

A Daly City youth, out celebrating his twenty-first birthday, was shot in the chest by an armed robber at a Hillside Blvd. bar last week and seriously wounded.

Mark A. Osborne, 21, of 898 Hillside was in the Stumble Inn bar according to police, when the gunman entered shortly after midnight and ordered everyone to put their hands on the bar.

Osborne, instead, tried to subdue the gunman and was shot in the chest. The bullet of unknown caliber, exited in the lower portion of the back, police said.

The victim was reported in guarded condition at Mary's Help Hospital.

Acting police chief David Hansen said there were five patrons and a bartender in the Stumble Inn at the time of the robbery.

After shooting Osborne, the gunman, wearing a ski mask and armed with what police believe is a .22 caliber revolver, calmly collected his victims' wallets and the contents of the bar's cash register.

He next ordered the patrons to lie on the floor "for at least five minutes" as he fled, police said.

Police said the gunman escaped with about $175.

trucks now in use that are between 20 and 25 years old.

Construction of a multi-level police parking lot would cost some $150,000 and would expand the present parking facility and add security to the police structure at the Civic Center, according to acting chief David Hansen.

Summer playground recreation projects totaling $32,600 also are included in the requests.

Of this amount, $24,600 would provide summer recreation programs at six Jefferson Elementary School District sites. The remaining monies would pay for high school age youth as summer recreation aides.

The JESD Board of Trustees earlier cut off some $49,000 in funding for the summer recreation program at 13 school sites. Rowe said this would partially fund the program.

Councilman William Schumacher said he felt the entire program could be financed by the city and suggested staff take a closer look at where the monies might come from.

Man Robbed

A coastside man has reported to the sheriff's office that $2,350 in cash was stolen Saturday from his former home in Montara while he was moving some items to a new home in Pacifica.

The money was funds he had collected in rent from property he owns, Palmer said.

Pacifica Wants $5,000 a Year

Golf Course License Fee Introduced

Pacifica councilmen last week introduced an ordinance which would impose an annual license fee of $5,000 on the Sharp Park Golf Course.

Paul Yook, district manager of the San Francisco Recreation Department, protested.

The ordinance was proposed by Mayor Aubrey Lumley. City Manager Dave Thompson reported to the City Council that the golf course comprises 417 acres, with a total assessed valuation of $60,275, representing a fair market value of $241,100 and pays $1,398.98 to the City of Pacifica.

Councilmen expressed shock at the low tax, comparing it to that paid by many homes. An adjacent site, Fairway School land, comprises just one square block, yet the city is paying an in-lieu tax based on a value of $214,000, according to Councilman Stan Farber.

Lumley also expressed unhappiness at the non-residents' fees recently imposed by the San Francisco Park and Recreation Commission.

Fred Howard, president of the Fairmont Improvement Association, complained, "You can't even get a starting time if you're not a San Franciscan."

Pacifica City Atty. John Sherman reported he already had received objections from the San Francisco city attorney, who wanted to know what authority Pacifica had to tax another city's facilities.

"I told him you're operating a profit-making business within our city," Sherman said.

Yook objected that the Sharp Park Golf Course was not a profit-making business.

"It lost $106,000 last year," he said.

He said, "Our cities are both in the same position. We have to seek new funds to operate."

He added the golf course provides recreational facilities for Pacifica and neighboring cities, as well as San Francisco. The councilmen, however, objected that Pacificans are discourged from using the golf course. Golfers, instead, go out of town, particularly to San Mateo and Half Moon Bay.

Poor maintenance practices, and failure to utilize the course's potential also were claimed.

Howard suggested Pacifica could take the course over and make money for San Francisco.

Lumley assured Yook San Francisco would be given an opportunity to forestall the new license fee. The council would introduce the ordinance, but not adopt it until June 24, to give the San Francisco Park and Recreation Commission time to act. He noted that when that commission imposed non-residents' fees, Pacifica protested, but its protests went unanswered.

Only Councilwoman Janice Fulford objected to the new license fee, pointing out that the city's highest license fee comes to only $1,400. The council voted to introduce the new fee, 3-1.

Police Arrest Three On Burglary Charges

South San Francisco police Thursday reported three arrests on burglary charges made at the scene of the alleged offenses.

Two arrests were made outside the Westborough Safeway Market, Tuesday afternoon.

According to police, a young couple was seen entering the market. The woman was carrying a large empty straw purse. While the man attracted the attention of a clerk, the woman loaded up with a half-dozen boxes of camera film, valued at approximately $30, police alleged.

Charged with burglary and conspiracy, police say, were Deborah Daniels, 21 of San Francisco, and Angelo Elbert Lopez, 24 of 59 Chelsea Court, Daly City.

A young woman was arrested May 24 outside the apartment house at 987 Brusco Way, where she resides. According to police, Elzabeth Marie Burke was seen smashing the rear apartment window of her next door neighbor.

Brisbane City Manager Quits in Pay Dispute

Brisbane City Manager Walter R. Bednar suddenly resigned his post Tuesday May 28 following a brief closed door meeting with the City Council.

Bednar, appointed to the manager's post in December, 1973, said the resignation was effective immediately.

He would not comment further.

However, The Post learned Bednar had requested a personnel session with the council to seek a pay increase.

He cited, as justification for the pay hike, an increased work load and longer hours.

Bednar, a retired Internal Revenue Service official, went behind closed doors shortly before midnight with the council.

Minutes later, City Atty. David Friedenberg was called into the secret meeting and shortly thereafter Bednar walked out.

Bednar took over the post from Acting City Manager Gene Aiello six months ago and though his tenure was brief it was stormy, observers agree.

He attempted to balance the budget by cutting policemen from the department. When former Police Chief Billy E. Beard protested this move, he was fired by Bednar.

The firing is still pending in the courts.

Bednar also reportedly asked for a one year contract. He has been on a month-to-month agreement, being paid at the rate of $1,000 a month.

Firefighter Hurt in DC

A stubborn, smokey fire in a Daly City home Saturday noon injured one fireman and caused an estimated $16,000 in damages to contents and the structure.

Firemen said the blaze in the Robert Rickerts' home at 194 Westbrook Ave., reported about 12:48 p.m., apparently started in a rear bedroom.

Cause is believed to be a cigarette, fire officials said.

Two of the Rickerts' children, Lisa, 10, and Patricia, 13, were alone in the home when the blaze was discovered. Neither was hurt, it was reported.

Fireman Larry Benson suffered a cut right hand fighting the fire when he fell against a window, it was reported.

Senior Citizen Tax Forms at Papan's Office

Assemblyman Louis J Papan (D-San Mateo County), announced last week that Senior Citizens' Property Tax Assistance forms, and help in filling them out, are again available through his district office.

Senior citizens, aged 62 or older, may be eligible to receive a partial refund based on percentage of the taxes they paid for 1973-74.

Applications for the refund must be filed with the State Franchise Tax Board before Aug. 31, 1974.

For further information, contact Papan's district office at 343B Serramonte Plaza, Daly City, or telephone 756-6400.

Daycamp Signups Continue

Registration for Daycamp '74, a summer activity program for children, will be June 8 and 15 from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. at Grace Presbyterian Church, 515 Winchester, Daly City.

Open to youngsters in first through sixth grades, Daycamp '74 begins June 24 and continues for five weeks.

Children may enroll for the entire period or a lesser number of weeks. It provides, under supervised leadership, a program of sports, nature study, crafts, music and other learning experiences and fun activities.

Sessions are held from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. five days a week and will be conducted in park sites.

The cost, including supplies, transportation, equipment, insurance and supervision, is $25 per child for the entire five weeks or $6 per week. A limited number of scholarships are available.

Daycamp '74 is co-sponsored by three Daly City churches: Second Baptist, St. Luke's C.M.E. and Grace Presbyterian.

Further information may be obtained at time of registration or by telephoning 586-6515 between 8 and 11 a.m. weekdays.

Catholic Daughters Reception

Court St. Mary No. 1155, Catholic Daughters of America, welcomed the following new members at its reception of new members May 16: Mesdames Elizabeth Chapin, Elsie Bisordi, Maria Valbuena, Alzy da Costa, Julia Gaan, Helen Pickard, Ursula Duff and Hazel Jeter.

The last meeting of the term will be held tomorrow followed by a short social. The court will recess during the months of July and August and resume their meetings in September.

Two important CDA events in July will be the Patriotic Mass held annually at St. Mary's Cathedral to be celebrated by His Eminence, Archbishop Joseph McGucken. July 7, 10:30 a.m. has been set for this year's Patriotic Mass for the 13 courts in the San Francisco Archdiocese. The 35th Biennial National CDA Convention will be held at the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles July 13-19. The California State Court is sending 13 delegates to the national convention headed by state regent, Mrs. James Miraglia.

Federated Officers Elected

New officers of the Pacifica Federated Women's Club were installed at a recent dinner installation at the Brentwood Lodge South San Francisco.

State Nominating Committee Chairwoman of California Federated Women's Clubs, Mrs. Bea Grass of Mt. View performed the ceremony, using a friendship theme, where each member represented a link in the chain, forming a golden circle. The club's state flower, "a Golden Rose" and the club motto, "Unity in Diversity", completed the motif.

The following persons were installed: president, Lynn Beaudreault; first vice-president, Mrs. Barbara Bugby; second vice-president, Mrs. Jean Bingham; recording secretary, Mrs. Frieda Henderson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Mattson; treasurer, Mrs. Bea Thompson; auditor, Alice McPeak; parliamentarian, Sis Grumm.

City Council Splits on Harbor District Support

The Pacifica City Council split, 2-2, last week, over the city's support of the Pillar Point Harbor project.

The issue is expected to be settled June 10 when, it is hoped, Councilwoman Grace McCarthy will be present to make up the full five-member council.

At one time, in debate over the issue, the parliamentary procedure over tie votes became so complicated that the council went on to the other agenda items while City Atty. John Sherman reviewed his law books.

The issue arose when the Harbor District wrote the city, expressing concern over San Bruno's request for a hearing on dissolution of the Harbor District.

Councilman Stan Farber moved Pacifica support the harbor project and citizens be asked to support continuation of the harbor district.

When no seconds were received to Farber's motion, Mayhor Aubrey Lumley himself seconded the resolution.

Councilwoman Janice Fulford, complaining that several important reports on the project were not supplied her or Councilman Sid Lorvan, asked for the resolution to be tabled. The tabling resolutin failed, 2-2, and Farber's resolution then also failed on the reverse 2-2 vote.

Farber said Pacifica hopes to obtain funding from the harbor district for its proposed Rockaway Beach harbor.

"Let's not cut off our nose to spite our face," he said.

Fulford retorted that eight million dollars had already been spent on Pillar Point, and that it was benefiting only a small wealthy minority of yacht owners. Lumley claimed, however, that boat owners were probably in the majority.

FLEET TRAINING

Navy Electronics Technician Third Class Douglas E. Cone, whose wife Deanna is the daughter of Mrs. Francis Newman of 184 Ninth Lane, South San Francisco, has left Alameda aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Ranger. He is enroute to join the U. S. Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific. Cone will participate in fleet training exercises and will visit many Far East countries during the cruise.

Serra Day Camp Sets Opening

Serra High will hold its third annual summer day camp for children in three two-week sessions, June 17, July 1 and July 15.

The sessions are half-day, morning and afternoon. Children may attend all day or for more than one two-week sessions, if desired. The camp is open to boys entering grades three to nine and to girls, grades five to nine.

Activities will include basketball, softball, volleyball, track and field, tennis, tumbling and swimming, all at Serra gym, pool and athletic fields. Added boys' sports are touch football, baseball and soccer. Individual swimming lessons will be available.

The Serra athletic department will direct the activities with guest instructors invited periodically. All campers will receive a Serra "Tee" shirt.

A full-day session of two weeks costs $45, half-day $25, with family discounts offered.

A brochure describing the details of the program may be had by calling the school, 345-8207 or 345-0991. The school is located at 451 W. 20th Ave., San Mateo.

Library Slates Film Show

Three films will be shown at the Pacifica Library Community Room at 7:30, June 20.

"Meshes of the Afternoon" is an avant-garde classic of the American Experimental cinema which explores the ambiguities of imaginative and objective reality in a secret and personal dream, which constantly shifts from dream to actuality.

Shirley Jackson's chilling short story, "The Lottery," an 18-minute color film also will be shown. For chess enthusiasts the third film, "Passionate Pasttime: Chess", will feature 5,000 years with chess from its origins to the present, with music by Milhaud.

Total film showing time is one hour.

HOPEFULLY, FLOODING will be alleviated in the Garden Valley section of Daly City with completion of final link in half-million dollar pipeline. Flood Control Project

Colma Creek Bid Approved

An "either-or" program for funding the proposed flood control project for Colma Creek was approved May 29 by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

Either residents of the Colma Creek Flood Control Zone approve an $11 million bond proposal to finance a complete project from the Bay to El Camino Real in South San Francisco, or an abbreviated $8 million project will be undertaken on a 20-year pay-as-you-go basis.

The flood control zone includes the county and the cities of South San Francisco, Daly City, San Bruno, Pacifica and Colma.

Deputy County Engineer Vic Sanders said that the ultimate program would include channel improvements designed to handle the water discharge from the heaviest storm which could be expected once every 50 years.

A bond proposal to accomplish that program will be submitted to voters of the flood control zone in the Nov. 5 general election. A two-thirds majority approving the proposal will be needed for passage.

However, the county and the cities involved have agreed to proceed with an $8 million project, comprised of channel improvement from the Bay to a point near Oak Street and Mission Road, should the bond measure fail.

The latter project provides that the five cities and the county advance a total of $4 million over the next three years to get the project underway, with an additional $4 million to come from the tax imposed in the flood control zone.

The tax also would be used to repay the cities and county principal and interest over a period of 20 years.

Supervisor Robert St. Clair questioned the procedure of one project depending on the failure of (bonds) the other.

"It rubs me the wrong way," he stated.

County Manager M.D. Tarshes said he was recommending that the board establish the necessity of the project and assert that a rejection of a bond proposal would not mean the rejection of the project.

Only one protest was asserted before the board. DeWayne W. Moore, a senior vice-president of Guy F. Atkinson Co., complained that his firm had been included in the highest-paying benefit zone for financing the project.

When the flood control zone was established in 1964, three zones were established for assessment of property on the basis of benefits derived and contribution to runoff causing flooding.

Moore contended that his firm, being placed in Zone 1, would have an unfair assessment (some $400,000) when it has had no flooding problem since being established in the area in 1945 and has not contributed to the water problem. He wanted his firm placed in Zone 2.

Although sympathetic, the Board of Supervisors acceded to an opinion of Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorenson that the State Flood Control Act precludes the county from changing any zone status.

Officials Inspect Storm Drain

Members of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors and the Daly City City Council inspected the final link in a half-million dollar storm drain project for the Garden Valley area of the city Friday.

The drain is designed to relieve recurring flooding in the Garden Valley district — an area that has been hit with heavy flooding in recent years.

Last year, Daly City opened its section of the storm drain system after levying a surtax of five cents on all city residents. However, because of delays in completion of the county's portion of the line, flooding had continued.

It was hoped with the opening of the line from Daly City to Colma Creek — some 1650 feet in all — the flood problem has been solved.

McGuire & Hester, contractors on the county's section of the project, began work in January.

County Engineer Sid Cantwell said he also expected the line to alleviate flooding along El Camino Real in the unincorporated area between A Street, near Daly City, and D Street near Colma.

Sharing costs of the new facility were the Federal Highway administration ($113,123); San Mateo County ($47,717)) State ($44,980), and the North San Mateo County Sanitation District ($12,787) together with property assessments totalling $294,400.

DC Man Found Dead

The body of an elderly Daly City man, despondent since the death of his wife six months ago, according to police, was found dead in his bedroom shortly before 6 p.m. May 29 from an apparent self-inflicted gunshot.

Myrtle Andersen, of Colma, said she had visited her brother Roy H. Anderson, 72, at his 150 Coronado Ave. home about 5:5& P.M.

When there was no answer she went into the home and found her brother dead in the bedroom, a .380 caliber automatic handgun at his side.

He had been shot once in the head, investigators said.

Impact Awaited Of Class of '74

Class of 1974. As always, a time of beginning is celebrated with the passing of the late days of spring. Across the land colleges and universities hold commencement ceremonies filled with sentiment. A time of leaving is also a time of beginning.

The class of '74 is like no other in history. In the past, graduation speakers have spoken stentoriously of a coming of age, and the approach of responsibility and participation.

The class of '74, however, has already participated, affected social and political institutions, and comes to the world unusually wise in its ways, many of which class members have already profoundly changed. These graduates have lived through a cauldron of evolving habits, customs and institutions.

This class, perhaps more than any other, was required by society to assist in curing social and political ills. From grammar school, members of '74 were asked to be the front line troops in the battle for racial equality. A large part of adult society expected "the children" to function as plastic soldiers in the cause, and were amazed or appalled when the young crusaders, set forth in the midst of problems not of their making, developed their own new philosophies of politics, government, and day to day living.

'74 was also expected to serve as a testing ground for untried educational theories. Ungraded classes, new math, changes in the methods of discipline and novel curricula were tried on them. If some of the experiments were found wanting, '74 was not.

The class of '74 lived through a time of profound change in sexual attitudes and practices. The co-ed dormitory, free and guiltless sexuality, and equality of the sexes arouse as much from new ways of thinking as from the liberation of the pill.

This class lived through high school and early college days that were bruised by the Vietnam War. In the late '60's older brothers and sisters brought home stories of colleges and universities in open revolt, and high school students, although not in direct action, were perhaps more deeply and emotionally affected by the anti-war movement than those a bit more mature. 1970 saw the high school matriculation of '74, coincident with the impact of the Cambodian incursion, Kent State, and universal college protest. Again, the adult generation was surprised when its plastic soldiers turned active and activist. '74 in '70 joined in the marches and some of that year's wilder events.

'74 came to the colleges and universities at a most unsettled time. Many schools had closed early in the spring of '70 and many Americans were critical of academic life. '74 joined earlier classes that had been severely mauled by the events of earlier years, and started college careers that were threatened by war, the draft and the risks of civil disobedience.

'74 lived through the peak of the drug craze. Society and government had proven incapable of suppressing the traffic in drugs. Plenty of hard stuff had always been available, but never before the high school days of '74 had heavy drugs been accepted as an "in" thing in non-criminal society. Some members of the adult generation had mistakenly glamorized flower children and hippies, and a new rhetoric urged widespread use of dangerous drugs.

'74 also lived through a change of style. Long hair, hot music, casual dress, a return to arts and crafts and new ideas of work and leisure were a part of a different America.

With this class history, it is no surprise that '74 is so unlike the classes of the late '40's, '50's and early '60's. Members of '74 are older for their age and many have missed the simpler joys of youth. Some have fallen by the wayside, casualties of war, anti-war, far out philosophies, adult meddling and drugs.

The great majority, however, bring to America strength that should be a national asset. Mature in understanding the events and pressures through which they have passed, these graduates are well equipped to live and succeed in the society they have helped form.

They have already shown great discrimination, having rejected the worst of their youthful heritage, and embraced change they believe good. This class has brought a sense of normalcy to campus. The "normalcy" however, is peculiarly characteristic of '74, and may disappoint oldsters who yearn for a return to "the way we were".

'74 will never be the way we were, but could well be better. Freer and fairer in human relationships, devoted to the arts, rejecting senseless rigidity and demanding true equality under law, '74 may continue to make its own history. What better educated, better prepared, more crisis hardened class has ever emerged to wage the unending battle for an improved America?

A Foxridge Alternative

STP Replaces the PTA

By RICK SULLIVAN

Teachers and parents of children attending Foxridge School have discovered that an STP works better than a PTA.

It's less rigid, more flexible; less authoritarian, more democratic; less socially motivated, more academically ambitious.

For the first school year in eight years, the South San Francisco elementary school in windy Westborough has generated, through the STP, more parent, teacher and even student participation in educational endeavors.

This, at least, is the opinion of the Foxridge principal and members of the Student-Teacher-Parent (STP) organization, many of whom only last September "overwhelmingly" voted to oust the Parent-Teacher Association (PTA) chapter at their school to form an alternative organization to better serve their own school's needs.

Although the STP performs many of the same functions carried on by the PTA, the degree of commitment to help educate children is more apparent today than it was last September. Parents are communicating better with teachers, who are communicating better with students.

According to one Foxridge instructor, teachers, who in the past divorced themselves from parents involved in PTA, have now been reunited with those in STP, clinging to the hope that the new organization somehow will be an effective pressure group in upgrading both academic and behavioral standards.

The collapse of the Foxridge PTA is recalled with some emotion by some parents and administrators, namely Mrs. Jackie Jacoberger, the last president of the Foxridge chapter.

"I had known for some time that there was a dissatisfaction with our PTA and I was prepared for a heated first meeting of the school year when we elect new officers. I knew it was going to be proposed that we close our PTA chapter and start a new organization.

"Parents and teachers had for some time felt they were not getting enough participation, and no one, it seemed, wanted to assume any leadership roles," said Mrs. Jacoberger.

'We Do More Than Cookie Crunching and Socializing'

"At the meeting there were representatives of the (17th) District PTA who urged members to retain the PTA and work with it to increase participation, and there were teachers and parents who spoke sometimes vehemently of closing the chapter to form our own group to meet the needs of our own school.

"Some expressed the resentment of paying dues which went to the state organization and not directly to the school, and others felt a mere name change would erase the stigma attached to PTA and therefore encourage greater participation.

"I myself, was torn as to which way to go. I understood the concerns, but I felt what we wanted could be accomplished through the PTA; my opinion didn't matter, however. There was an overwhelming vote to close the chapter. I abstained in the voting."

Within weeks the STP was formed and an executive board was elected, composed of two teachers, two students and two parents. It was agreed the board would meet monthly and that all members would gather at the beginning and end of each year to discuss policies. No dues would be collected.

Mrs. Jacoberger, who now works with the STP although on a limited basis, agrees that teachers are more involved with the new organization than they were with the PTA and there is a better communication between teachers and parents. But she maintains that overall the STP is doing little more than the PTA.

She says she feels a little uncomfortable with the STP because it is not as structured as the PTA nor does it employ rigid organizational guidelines. Also she does not feel the presence of the organization at the school like she did with the PTA. "I'm not sure what it (the STP) is doing besides putting out a newsletter."

Indeed, publishing a newsletter is a major activity of STP members, but according to Mrs. Barbara Kloster, former PTA member, now chairwoman of the library for STP, there is much more going on at Foxridge.

Although expressing no resentment of the PTA and in fact praising those who worked in the group, Mrs. Kloster says the new organization has increased markedly participation in the school and communication between parents and instructors.

She says under STP more parents are volunteering to help in the library and in the classrooms. Room mothers are no longer ignored by the teachers, she says, because teachers believe in STP. Parents and teachers together are working with students in instruction and in planning social activities.

"When we were PTA members in order to get involved in the school we would first have to go to the administration and ask what the teachers wanted done," said Mrs. Kloster. "Now we go directly to the teacher and deal with him personally."

"We (parents and teachers) are feeling we are really doing something for the school. The PTA does a lot of good, but in this area it just wasn't working," she said.

Mrs. Kloster's mild criticism of the PTA at Foxridge is amplified by Bob Gehl an instructor at the school and executive board member of STP. He is an outspoken critic of the PTA as an organization calling it "irrelevant" and "worse than useless."

"The PTA, is dominated by people who are neither parents nor teachers; that is it is run by school administrators, whose purpose is to identify and neutralize potentially active parents by getting them involved in harmless and totally unimportant activities. This prevents them (parents) from attacking the real problems at the schools; in fact, it prevents them from finding out what the problems are.

"The main objective of the PTA is to keep these few people busy baking idiotic cookies, attending stupid meetings, and, or socializing, just so long as they don't take a realistic look at what the schools are doing," says Gehl.

He continues: "The PTA always claims it is not a pressure group; in fact, they swear . . . they will not interfere with school policies. But there can be no changes in our sadly deficient school system until school policies are changed.

"Right now schools are passing children into grades where they can't do the work. It is for these children that academic standards must be lowered. It is also school policy to tolerate all sorts of misbehavior, and it is this atmosphere . . . that makes it difficult for the majority to learn."

Gehl maintains that teachers have for some time known the ineffectiveness of the PTA and have therefore chosen to become only slightly, if at all, involved in the organization. He said at Foxridge very few teachers supported the PTA, but now are heavily involved in the STP, because they believe it can eventually prove itself a powerful pressure group dedicated to upgrading academic and behavioral standards.

Gehl's allegations that the PTAs at Foxridge and at all other schools are in the pockets of administrators and that the organization is "worse than useless" is hotly countered by 17th District PTA President Mrs. Polly Nelson and Foxridge Principal Ernst Hensen.

Mrs. Nelson admits that in some cases PTAs are run by administrators or by other resolute individuals including teachers, but states this by no means occurs at all schools. She says she doesn't know if administrators ran the PTA at Foxridge, but states that whatever problems the group was experiencing could have been resolved within the PTA.

"I don't really see how changing the organization can foster leadership and bring in more volunteers, but if that is happening there I wish them all the luck."

Mrs. Nelson labels the charges that PTA members concerns themself only with petty activities and ignore education standards "ridiculous."

To bolster her point, she quotes from the Policy and Procedures of the National PTA working with schools.

"The organization shall work with the school to provide quality education for all children and youth and shall seek to participate in the decision making process establishing school policy, recognizing that the legal responsibility has been delegated by the people to the boards of education.

"As you can see we hardly take a hands off approach to school policy," said Mrs. Nelson. "We are very involved in things besides cookie crunching and socializing. We attend school board meetings to give input and sponsor education programs to enlighten parents of new procedures in teaching like the new math for instance, among others."

As an honorary vice president of the Foxridge PTA and advisor to the chapter, Ernst Hansen was very much involved in the PTA activities, but denies he ran the organization.

Hansen said he was sorry to see the PTA ousted, because there was some very good people working in the group." But he added he believes the changeover was for the best, because for the first year since he became principal eight years ago, there has been enthusiastic and undivided cooperation between all concerned.

"A good portion of the P-TA's time was spent trying to raise funds for school equipment . . . and I will admit we didn't discuss curriculum as often as we should have.

"In my new role with the STP I meet with the executive board and we talk about curriculum. Everyone has a say including the students. This is what's exciting about the new group.

"Judging from the response to the STP in its first year, I think I can say we are going to make something really great for this school."

HELP HINTS — Members of the North San Mateo County Independent Insurance Agents Association recently turned over some 10,000 pamphlets detailing how average homeowners can prevent burglaries and secure their homes. An inventory guide is included in the booklet. Board OKs Filing for Federal Aid

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors May 28 authorized the filing of a formal application for $2,180,922 in federal funding for manpower employment and training programs through June 30, 1974.

The Manpower Planning Council has recommended that $900,000 of the funds be reserved for allocation to new or expanded programs to meet the needs in local communities, with the balance going to carry on existing programs.

Allocated to programs already in operation:

Opportunities Industrialization Center West (OICW) — $660,000, to operate skills training centers for 600 persons in East Menlo Park and South San Francisco.

Bay Area Urban League — $152,000, to operate an on-the-job training program for 150 disadvantaged persons in private business and industry.

Neighborhood Youth Corps — $386,422, to provide part-time work, paid work experience, vocational training and continued education for up to 300 disadvantaged youths who have dropped out of school, or are identified as in need of assistance to prevent their dropping out.

Mary's Help Hospital Elects New President of the Board

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of Mary's Help Hospital, Sister Florence Urbine, D.C., was elected president of the board.

Former Board President Sister Teresa Piro, D.C., will serve as vice-president in addition to her duties as coordinator of Health Services for the Daughters of Charity Province of the West.

Sister Florence was named to the board of directors in May, 1973. She has been working at Mary's Help since September as director of development. In this position, Sister is involved in planning for the future growth of the hospital.

Sister Florence received a diploma in nursing from St. Vincent's Hospital in Los Angeles; a B.S. degree in nursing education from Louisiana State University; and a master's degree in education from the Immaculate Heart College in Los Angeles.

During her career, Sister Florence has served 20 years in Southern California in educational and administrative positions. She also was appointed vice-president of the Board of Directors of St. Vincent's Hospital, Los Angeles, for five years.

Sister Florence is a member of the National Association for Hospital Development and the American Society for Training and Development.

She has published articles in several hospital magazines and is a frequent guest lecturer at hospital and nursing conventions.

Library Friends Have 'Fun' Philippine Style

An evening of fun, Philippine style, witnessed by approximately 250 people, enfolded at the new Westlake Community Center when adult and high sctt tfilipino groups cooperated to present a program for the Annual Meeting of The Friends of the Daly City Library recently. The program was chaired by Mrs. Michael Daw, assisted by Mrs. James Hough, with Mrs. Miriam Ericson chairwoman of exhibit of artifacts.

Following greetings from the city of Daly City extended by Mayor McRobert Stewart, Marcelino Enriquez, president of the Filipino American Association of Northern San Mateo County acted as master of ceremonies. Dancing included a dance of lights, a courtship dance, and Tinikling, the bamboo dance, which combines grace and dexterity of agile dancers to the ever-increasing tempo of clicking bamboo poles.

Under the coordination of Nelia Perez, president of the Jefferson High School Filipino Club, high school girls, each escorted by a boy whose attire included an embroidered Philippine shirt, modeled typical, bright, embroidered and jeweled Philippine dresses. Mrs. Enriquez completed the show of fashion wearing her wedding gown. Mrs. Baldwin of the FAA was commentator.

Mrs. Sabina Day prefaced a documentary film of the Philippines with a brief backgrond of the islands.

Felino Silverio, soloist, and the adult Pag-Asa Choral Group of St. Patrick's Church were accompanied by Mike Duazo, pianist. Rudy Valeros conducts the choir.

A wide variety of Philippine foods filled the refreshment tables at the evening's end.

Preceding the program at The Friends' business meeting, with Mrs. Emmett Tierney presiding, a gift of $50 to purchase Philippine books and $250 to start the initial collection of pre-school books at the forthcoming Serramonte Library were presented by vice-president Mrs. John Connolly to Mrs. Frank Kelechava, representing the Library Board of Trustees. Book Fair Chairwoman Mrs. Alvin Schwarzbach presented a check of $1.250, which had been voted by The Friends' board to be deposited in the building fund account, to Albert Teglia of the Building Fund Committee. Teglia reported this brought the fund to approximately $3,700. The Friends' project under the fund is to furnish and equip a planned community cultural room in the new Serramonte Library.

A book, The Encyclopedia of The Horse, edited by Lt. Col. C. E. G. Hope and G. M. Jackson, Advisory Editor, William Steinhaus, Viking Press, New York, was presented to the library in appreciation of Mrs. Tierney's two years' service as president of The Friends.

Elected to guide The Friends for 1974-75 were Mrs. John Connolly, president; Mrs. James Hough, vice president; Mrs. Albert Teglia, recording secretary; Mrs. Samuel Mikulin, corresponding secretary; Elvera Sunnell, treasurer; and directors for two years, Mmes. Michael Daw and F. Lincoln Walter. Mrs. Tierney will serve as parliamentarian.

Guest Cantor To Conduct Service

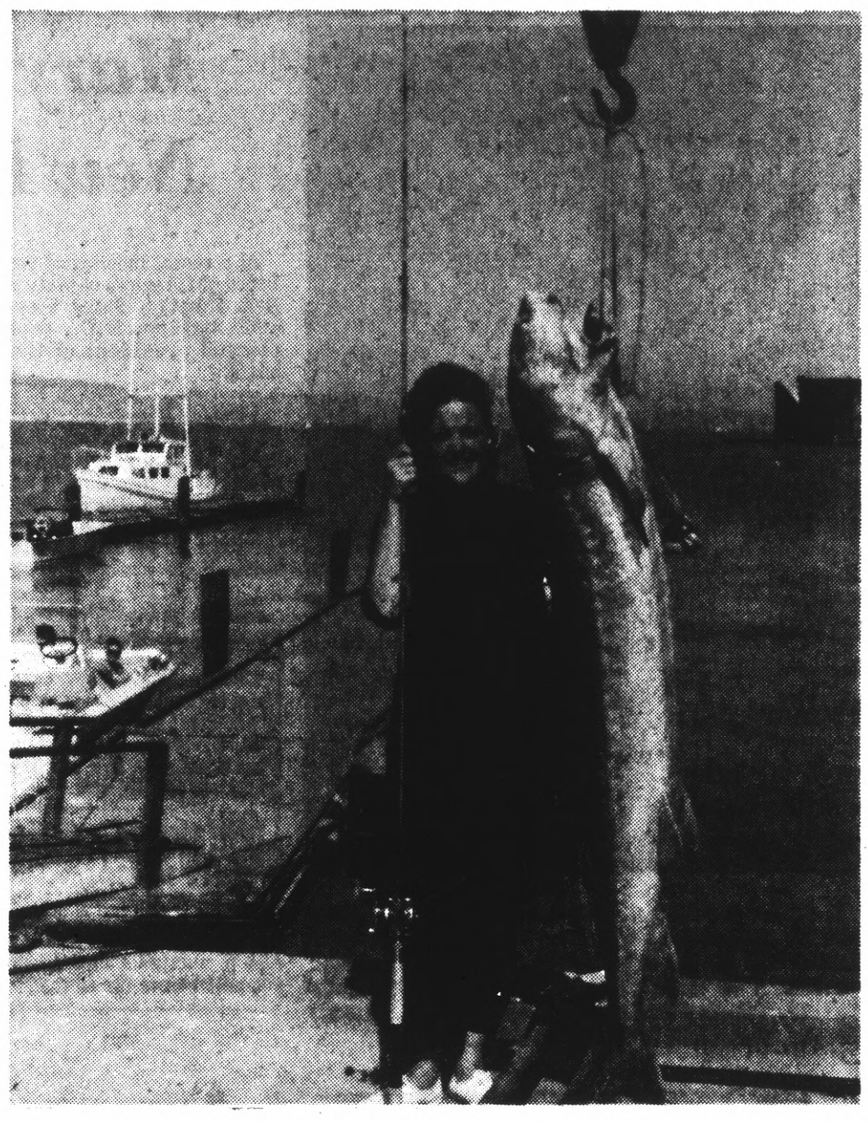
Sabbath Services will be held June 7 at Congregation B'nai Israel beginning at 8:30 p.m. and will be conducted by guest cantor Henry Greenberg.

The service will observe Sisherhood Sabbath and will honor the ladies of the congregation who express their support of the Religious School and the beautification of the synagogue through their membership in the Sisterhood.

Participating in the services will be the Mesdames Leonard Greendorfer, Martin Lemesh, Milton Potak, Robert Sorkin and Hal Stehman who will offer readings.

Highlight of the evening will be the installation of officers by Cantor Greenberg. To be installed are the Mesdames Leonard Greendorfer, president; Milton Potak, Robert Sorkin and Hal Stehman, vice presidents; David Altschuler, recording secretary; Al Herpe, corresponding secretary; Phil Kane, treasurer, and Gerry Fox, Martin Lemesh and Michael Reutlinger, trustees.

In charge of the Oneg Shabbat (social hour) to follow the service are the Mesdames Philip Kane and Michael Reutlinger.



PEG MACK of Daly City is dwarfed by the 100 pound sturgeon she managed to land following a 25 minute struggle last week in San Pablo Bay. The 6 foot 1½ inch beauty was caught on a 25 pound test line. Her husband, photographer Doug Mack, just happened to have his camera ready.

Temple to Conduct Installation Service

Rabbi Arthur Kolatch will conduct a special installation ceremony for the Board of Trustees of the Congregation, the Sisterhood and the Brotherhood, June 7 at 8:30 p.m.

Newly elected officers for 1974-75 are: President, Martin Segol; Vice President, Ritual, Hartly Fleischmann; Vice President, Finance, Meyer Kaplan; Vice President, Religious School and Education, Edith Hylton; Vice President, Ceremony, Warren Bauer; Vice President, Membership, Fred Angress; Secretary/Treasurer, William J. Owen; Immediate Past President, Arthur S. Becker.

Elected to serve a three year term were the following incumbents: Hartly Fleischmann, Quentin Kopp and William Owen. Newcomers to the board are: Carol Nissim, Sanford Weinberg and Carl Sadowsky. Completing the Beth Israel Judea Board of Trustees are: Louis Becker, Eric Block, Francis Cappel, Sid Chassy, Joseph Friedman, Jerry Molton and Philip Segal.

The following men have been elected to serve on the Brotherhood Board: president — Harvey Backman; vice president — Ed Greenspun; treasurer — Abe Titen; secretary — Bill Owen; trustees: Harold Elias er, Martin Flaum, Dave Gruenberger, John Taylor, Myron Harband, Ernie Michels, Jerry Molton and Lawrence Nissim.

South San Francisco Sets Field Trip To Big Basin

The South San Francisco Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring a field trip to Big Basin Redwoods State Park in the Santa Cruz mountains.

The trip is scheduled for June 26 to mark the beginning of the summer program.

Boys and girls, 7 to 12 years old, may participate in the hiking trails, see the many kinds of animals that live in and around the park and visit the museum located in the creeklands of the park.

There will be two pick up points for the bus — Westborough Park, 9:30 a.m. and Orange Park, 9:45 a.m.

A small fee will be charged to cover the bus trip.

Those interested may sign up at their park or playground or contact the Parks and Recreation office, 873-8000, extension 50.

Each child should take a bag lunch, though there are facilities to buy lunch, if they so desire.

For details contact Mary Ornellas at the Parks and Recreation office.

FLEET TRAINING

Navy Seaman Apprentice Thomas P. Bradley, son of Mrs. Valerie Bradley of 45 Westline Drive, Daly City, has left Alameda aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Ranger. He is enroute to join the U. S. Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific. Bradley will participate in fleet trainir g exercises and will visit many Far East countries during the cruise.

Samuel Chandler Newspapers

"With wars in Asia and in our own country murders and the dull story of Richard Nixon, what's in the newspaper worth reading?"

Well for one thing, the ladies are coming! Moreover, Bobby Bonds, Rick Barry, Gene Washington! — Your next teammate may be a woman. According to reporter Ted Green, U.C.L.A. is tripling its budget for women's athletics to provide scholarships, better facilities and better coaching.

"And in the boldest move yet by a major sports power, the school said it will permit women to try out for mens' teams in all sports." How's that for Women's Lib?

Among the men of U.C.L.A. no one seems to begrudge the allocation of more money for women's sports, but to the man, they turn their stubby thumbs down on mixed sports. "Any girl who tries football," growled lineman Gene Clark, "is either a mean motor scooter or is awfully crazy."

John Wooden, the famed U.C.L.A. basketball coach, said in 40 years he's never seen a woman who could compete with men on the college level. "Anyone who'd like to try," he says, "is welcome, but the physical differences are far too great."

Yet the ladies of U.C.L.A. are pleased and ready to try. So look out, as a member of the women's track team warns, "This represents an increased awareness that women are not some sort of a minority group." "Here we come!" one chick cooed.

TURNING to a totally different matter a Los Angeles newspaper reports that San Francisco's S. I. Hayakawa, believes that "American children aren't being taught self-sufficiency." He prescribes for most children a healthy dose of the work-ethic medicine that was the rule during the Depression. He further recommends revival of the Civilian Conservation Corps for agricultural and forestry work no matter what career plans might be because "the physical work experience would be great for the kids."

"Truly, one thing is sweet
Of thing's under the Sun;
This, that a man should earn his bread and eat,
Rejoicing in his work which he hath done."
Emerson

WHILE THE INTERNAL Revenue Service is getting ready to slap a five per cent penalty on its boss, President Nixon, for not paying his income tax, the California Franchise Tax Board discloses these facts: 288 Californians with incomes exceeding $50,000 in 1973 did not pay income taxes. This is nearly three times the 101 in the same bracket who were not subject to income tax in 1972.

Remember the Dionne quintuplets. They were born forty years ago and were the sweethearts of two nations. Now Annette is Mrs. Germain Allard and has three children. Cecile is separated from her husband, Philippe Langlois, and lives with her four children. Yvonne is unmarried. Marie died five years ago leaving two daughters, while Emilie died at 20 and was single.

There's a movement in the school world that could produce a revolution in the modern high school.

Free schools are based upon a plan, as reported in the Wall Street Journal, that calls for students and teachers together "to decide what topics will be included in courses and what books will be read. Grades are out. Compulsory courses don't exist. Students often don't have a single class all day and sleep until noon. And teachers who were once called Mrs. Firestone and Mr. Romano become simply Helen and Ron.

"Classes may occur at any time and or any place." A class in a New York State school met in the teachers home and continued from 9 p.m. to 3 a.m. The students then camped out in sleeping bags at the teacher's house and left after breakfast the next morning. "We just decided we wanted a good, long uninterrupted time to discuss King Lear," said Barbara Miller, the teacher.

If you think such schools are "pipe-dreams," listen — today from 400 to 600 public high schools operate as "free or alternate" schools. That number represents nearly 400 per cent more than two years ago. The number of schools in New York State alone that have indicated interest in being "free" far exceeds the number that are presently "free."

So, see, there are things in the newspaper worth reading, and I've left the best of all for the last. The price of cheese is coming down!

June is the month for youth! Weddings are traditionally a June event, graduations invariably fall in June and so do many awards banquets. Summer camps open in June and the "out of school" youngsters hit the job market looking for a way to while away the summer months and earn some money for school expenses in the fall.

This week we have news in each of the above mentioned categories.

The Jerry Stringer family has been excited over the wedding of the eldest Stringer offspring. The mother of the groom, Lee, has been the publicity chairwoman for the Mary's Help Hospital Guild this past term, and her duties as a board member have kept her schedule in a sligtly complicated state during the preparations for the southern Peninsula rites and the promotion of the guild's Fuchsia Ball.

In the usual Stringer style, Lee managed both jobs with poise and charm!

BOYS MAY REACH the rank of Eagle Scout but the equivalent of that rank in Girl Scouting goes by a less imposing, but no less prestigious designation, that of First Class Scout.

In ceremonies held here recently Barbara Skirra, Seona Connolly, Cathy Winters and Cheryl Figone, all of troop 716, and Kim Gustafson, Michelle Scott and Leana Medina of troop 1620, were awarded the rank of First class.

These very special girls are anxious to share their experiences and know-how with others. To assist them toward that goal they have all signed up to take part in the back packing program this summer and they are enrolled in the Aide in Training units.

Senior Scouts Darice Robinson and Leslie Schwarzbach@ both of Daly City, have qualified to that part in one of Scoutings "wider opportunities" and they will be attending the "Women in Action" gathering in Washington, D.C. this summer.

FOR TEENS who are not going to attend a conference this summer, Mrs. Mary McCoy, director of volunteers at Mary's Help Hospital, reports that her office is now accepting applications for the summer class of "volunteens."

The volunteen program is open to boys and girls, 15 years of age and over, who enjoy volunteering to work with hospitalized persons. Interested students are asked to call Mrs. McCoy or Sister Nancy at the hospital, 992-4000.

GRADUATIONS, whether it be your first one or the the one where they grant you a PhD, are always exciting, but for parents and children alike that day when the first graduation, that from nursery school, occurs is something extra special!

Eleven north Peninsula children will receive their "degrees" in sand box engineering and block city construction during a program to be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in the Lakeside Presbyterian Church in San Francisco

Diane Cardoza, Julie Clotere, Laurel Lai, Michael Mullooly, Keith Norman, David Oleyar, Diane Olson, Bobbie Postel, Rachel Shanonsky, Frankie Staszesky and Kristine Waldvogel will be among 75 pre-schoolers who will don mortar boards to march down the aisle and receive a certificate of graduation and a lapel pin.

Mrs. John Madrosen of Westlake is the director of the school and she reports that the presentations will be made by the pastor of the church, Dr. Roe H. Johnston.

A party for the graduates and their guests will follow the ceremony in the church sanctuary.

JUNE 14 is the date selected by the members of the Balboa High School class of 1969 for a five-year reunion.

A dance and buffet dinner at Bimbo's in San Francisco is planned by members of the reunion committee. Tickets, costing $10 per person or $18 per couple are on sale now.

For reservations call Jackie Coston, 334-1440; Ed Grinton, 589-5826; or Ingrid Mejia, 756-1792, any evening after 6 p.m.

SUMMER CLOTHES and camping equipment, particularly sleeping bags, are needed to stock the Friends Outside closet as young mothers and their children prepare for their August outing in the Valley of the Moon.

Anyone having clothing or other items useful to young families in distress, is asked to call the Friends Outside office, 661-6900, for more information.

AUGUST 3 is the new date for the summer outing planned by the Fifty Plus Club.

Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan reports that on that date there will be a tour of San Francisco which will include a visit to the Lillenthal-Haas house, the Mint at Fifth and Mission streets, and a glimpse of the Hyatt Regency. Luncheon will be served to members of the tour at Alioto's on the Wharf prior to a trek through the new wine museum.

Final plans are somewhat flexible but anyone interested in making reservations for the jaunt to "the city" is asked to call Mrs. Elizabeth Funderburg.

JOHN RAITT now appearing in "Kiss Me Kate" was guest speaker at the Press Club of San Francisco recently. He spoke about his experiences on the stage. Seen with him (from left) are Mrs. Murray H. Freedman, chairlady of the event, Raitt, Mrs. Shlomo Tadmor, wife of the Consul General of Israel and Mrs. Janet Schwarz, assistant director of Lick Wilmerding High School.

Senior Citizens Pot Luck Luncheon Slated

Two hundred senior citizens enjoyed "Senior Citizen Day" sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department and the Country Club Apartments.

The afternoon of activity was held at the new Westlake Community Center, and the lively entertainment included the "Reflections" and the "Melody Makers." Joyce Richardson, Tina Gomez, and Dabney Pearl representing the "Reflections" sang several old-time favorites and lead the seniors in group singing.

Dance music was provided by the "Melody Makers" Senior Band from Little House in Menlo Park. Band members included Roy Oliver, Helen Oliver, Walter Read, Lido Del Porto, and Walter Triversa.

Tentative plans were discussed for the organization of a club for senior citizens in the Westlake Area.

An organizational meeting and pot luck luncheon will be held tomorrow at the Westlake Community Center starting at 11 a.m.

All senior residents 50 years of age and older are invited to attend. Those attending are asked to prepare a dish of their choice which will serve at least six people.

Seniors are requested to call the Daly City Recreation Department at 992-5356 or Ruth Kalb at 955-1317 to indicate what they plan to bring.

BE SURE at HOME SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION

AMERICA'S LARGEST

$5 BILLION STRONG

In troubled times...and calm ones... savers have discovered there's no place quite like Home. Since 1889, Home Savings has meant perfect safety for hard-earned income—through wars, depressions, recessions, and countless periods of stress and uncertainty.

Today, this kind of safety and assurance is more precious than ever. It's also more rewarding... with higher interest available to savers, starting with 5¼% Passbook Accounts (more than any bank on similar accounts) and moving on up to 7½% term accounts, with interest on all accounts compounded daily for faster growth. Add to this Home's many valuable free services, and Home's great strength of $5 billion in assets—and it's no secret why so many savers have decided that the best place of all to be... is Home.

SO MANY WAYS TO BE SURE AT HOME

5¼% Regular Savings
5¾% Bonus Account 90 Day Qualifying Period $1000 or more
6½% 1 Year Term $1000 or more
6¾% 2½ Year Term $1000 or more
7½% 4 Year Term $1000 or more

Federal Regulations require substantial penalties for early withdrawals on all term accounts; please ask us for details.

NELL NORTON

Good morning, good cooks.

I'm sure you loyal readers are awure that pie is my favorite dessert. Recent testing is making pie one of my favorite entrees also. This week we'll talk about two varieties, one with the usual pie crust and a meat and cheese filling, while the other reverses the pattern putting the meat on the outside with a rich cream cheese filling.

The first part of making any kind of pie is to make a crust. This is my favorite and is as easy to make as it's name implies.

EASY PIE CRUST

1½ cups sifted flour
½ cup shortening
1 teaspoon salt
2 to 3 Tablespoons water

Sift one and one-half cups flour and one teaspoon salt into a medium-sized bowl. Cut in the half cup shortening. Sprinkle in the 2 to 3 tablespoons water, stirring with a fork as you add the water to prevent it becoming too moist in spots. Mix until dough holds together. Shape into a ball and flatten between two pieces waxed paper. Roll out from center to edge in all directions forming a circle about 1½ inches larger than a 9-inch pan. Place in pan and flute edges.

OLIVE HAMBURGER PARIE

1 pound ground beef
½ cup chopped onion
2 Tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 Tablespoons catsup
½ cup sliced stuffed olives
1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell

1 cup cottage cheese
2 eggs, partially beaten paprika

In skillet brown the pound ground beef and half cup onion, drain off any excess fat. Blend in the two tablespoons flour, one teaspoon salt, fourth teaspoon pepper, three tablespoons catsup and half cup olives. Spoon into pie shell. Combine the one cup cottage cheese and two beaten eggs. Pour over meat mixture. Sprinkle with paprika.

Bake 350-degree oven 35 to 45 minutes, or until set and top lightly browned.

Serves 6.

Besides using beef and seasoned stuffing croutons in the crust this pie calls for sliced green onions.

GREEN ONION BEEFBURGER PIE

1 egg
½ cup milk
2 cups herb-seasoned stuffing croutons
1 teaspoon Worshestershire sauce
1 Tablespoons sliced green onions
1 teaspoon salt
¾ ground beef

In large bowl beat the egg until foamy. Stir in the half cup milk and two cups seasoned croutons. Let stand a few minutes until most the liquid is absorbed. Add the teaspoon Worchestershire sauce, one tablespoon sliced green onions, one teaspoon salt and three-fourths pound beef. Mix until combined.

With back of tablespoon press meat mixture lightly in bottom and around sides of 9-inch pie pan to form a meat pie shell.

FILLING

1 Tablespoon margarine
2 cups sliced green onions — bulb and part of stem
1 package 8-oz. cream cheese
2 eggs
3 or 4 drops liquid red pepper sauce
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk

Melt the one tablespoon butter in a medium-size frypan. Add the two cups sliced green onions. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until onions are slightly milted and bright green.

While onions are cooking, place the eight ounces cream cheese softened in small mixer bowl. Beat until light and fluffy. Add two eggs, three or four drops liquid red pepper sauce and one-half teaspoon salt. Beat well. Gradually add the half cup milk, mixing until smooth.

Spread cooked green onions over bottom of meat shell. Pour cheese mixture over onions. Sprinkle with paprika.

Bake in 350-degree oven about 40 minutes or until knife inserted near center comes out clean. Let stand a few minutes before cutting into wedges to serve.

Serves 6 to 8.

NOTE: In the recipe printed last week for Marmalade Sherry Nut Bread the correct amount of sherry called for is two-thirds (2/3) cup. The correct amount of marmalade is also two-thirds (2/3) cup.

Thirty students in the Jefferson Union High School District are finding that an alternative form of education better prepares them to live in their immediate environment.

The students belong to the Wilderness School and, among other activities, they work on a farm in Colma. The farm is a life science center, where students learn to plant and harvest vegetables and raise small animals.

The land is cultivated, planted and harvested yearly by the students who sell their crop to various produce stands. Students have built a green house, chicken coops and rbbit hutches.

The farm also maintains a pottery room with a potter's wheel, bult by a student as a project

Entries Open for Crafts Show at County Fair

Entries are now open for the 1974 Arts, Crafts and Photography shows at the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta, July 29-August 10. With awards totaling more than $10,000 in value, this year's exhibit is the largest Fair art show in the state.

Awards include five 2-semester scholarships to the Academy of Art College in San Francisco, and a scholarship to the Instituto in San Miguel Allende, Mexico.

A first-time special purchase award of $500 is being offered by Robert Gunderson, vice president of the California Jockey Club of Bay Meadows, for a portrayal in any media of a thoroughbred horse. Other cash prizes include $100 first prizes, $50 second prizes and $25 third prizes in 12 categories.

There are no limitations as to who may enter. Amateurs and professionals of any age and from any place are eligible. In the Arts, Crafts, and Fine Art Photography divisions, amateurs and professionals will be judged together. There is also a separate amateur photography show, called "Photofiesta."

Entry forms are available at county libraries, many art stores, and the Fair Office, 2495 S. Delaware St., San Mateo. Or write: Arts Committee, San Mateo County Fair, P.O. Box 1027, San Mateo 94403.

All works must be hand-delivered July7 from noon to 4 and July 8 from noon to 9 p.m., to the San Mateo County Fairgrounds.

LWV to Meet to Discuss Energy

All three units of the League of Women Voters of North San Mateo County will join in a meeting June 11 at 12:30 p.m. at St. Martin's Church, 777 Southgate, Daly City.

At 1 p.m. there will be a discussion centering around such questions as What is ahead in the field of energy? And what are the alternate sources of power?

Samuel Eveleth of the Combustion Power Company, Menlo Park, and Don Jones of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company will speak about their companies' work in these areas.

The Menlo Park Company has been researching the conversion of garbage into marketable energy. Also a relatively new project with them is the use of low-grade coal and shale for this purpose.

The League wishes to call attention to the recent change in bylaws which admits men to full membership in the organization. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to come to the June 11 meeting.

Reservations for babysitting may be made by calling the League.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD ★ JOHNSON

Edmunda Mendoza Sparks New Numbers

Edmunda Mendoza of the Acapulco Ballet Folklorico created three colorful new production numbers for the Finocchio's revue, all featuring the Eve-ettes chorus line. From a soft shoe routine in the opener, a colorful Spanish Flamenco routine called "Terero," to a smashing routine of precision dancing at the closing (Mendoza joins in on this one). Its an exciting display of talent and costuming . . . The Steve Romano Combo is a dinner-dancing attraction from 9 p.m., Wednesdays through Sundays, at Nick's restaurant, a long-time Rockaway Beach dining mecca for countless visitors to the Bay Area and the local set, alike. Open seven days a week for dining, dancing, cocktails and parties. Across the way and also overlooking Pacifica's grand ocean view, are Nick Gust's other specialty restaurants — The Moonraker, where Continental cuisine, cocktails and entertainment are daily attractions, Tuesdays through Sundays, and Captain Charles, a gourmet seafood restaurant serving from 4 p.m. Wednesdays through Saturdays, from 2 p.m. on Sundays. . . . Phil Lehr gets so many requests for the recipe for the superb flaming Veal Steak Armanino, featured in the elegant Wellington Room of the Steakery in downtown San Francisco, that he had special recipes printed up.

Hostess of the Week Raj Roopnarine

Nomination for "Hostess of the Week" goes to cute Raj Roopnarine, who tends to the greeting and seating duties at the Palo Alto Shirt Tail restaurant on Mondays, Thursdays and Fridays. Raj has a way of making one feel right at home the minute the front door opens. After a delicious luncheon or dinner, try a Cappuccino L'Amour . . . Quite a nightly entertainment line-up is on tap at Reuben's in San Mateo. Roccoco entertains Tuesdays through Saturdays; folksinger Rick Dougherty appears in the lounge on Sunday and Monday nights . . . The Fisherman in Burlingame will be ablaze with excitement and lights, as the all-new Tony Hall Show celebrates the third engagement at the restaurant with new songs, new patter and a special production from the movie, "Jonathan Livingston Seagull." The tall, good looking singer and his group entertain for dancing Tuesdays through Saturdays in the water-surrounded lounge . . . One of the summer favorites served at L'Auberge is "Fresh Strawberries Romanoff." Lucious strawberries are served in a silver goblet after they have been doused in a variety of flavorful liqueurs . . . Recording artist Walter Wanderley is the new organ whiz now entertaining the lounge crowds at Martinelli's Steak Pit in Millbrae. You can see this colossal Brazilian perform any Wednesday, Thursday, Friday or Saturday night, from 9 p.m. to 1:30 a.m.

FAMOUS ROCK GROUP — The Staple Singers, whose talents and accomplishments are recognized worldwide, will perform twice nightly (except Monday) in the Venetian Room of the Fairmont Hotel and Tower through June 12. Roebuck "Pop" Staples and his daughters, Mavis, Cleo, and Yvonne, have appeared on nearly every major television program, won numerous polls and honors in the field of music, and performed before the President of the United States.

Charlie Blackwell Villa Hotel Feature

Swing with the Charlie Blackwell Trio in the Villa Lounge of the Villa Hotel. From comedy bits to nostalgic tunes, this versatile group has something for every musical taste. An intimate atmosphere, friendly and personal service are specialties. The menu in the Villa Coffee House offers a "24-hours a day" selection. Many fine banquet rooms are also available for special entertaining, but early reservations are requested . . . California-Nevada Golden Tours is sending bus loads of fun-seekers from the Bay Area to John Ascuaga's Nugget. Excursions leave from Ed's Smoke Shop in San Carlos. A new $9 bonus value consisting of $7 cash and $2 food and beverage, plus nine hours of fun and excitement for only $15.30 per person . . . The San Mateo-Burlingame Auxiliary to Children's Hospital at Stanford continues to present its fine luncheon menu at the Garden Cafe in Burlingame, Mondays through Fridays, from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., as well as its Tuesday luncheon fashion show. A new coffee and Danish hour has been initiated on Mondays through Fridays, 9 a.m. to 11 a.m., for Burlingame Avenue shoppers and local business people.

Stanford Grads Return "To Pete And Mary's"

A favorite Stanford haunt during the 1920's and 30's was a place called Pete and Mary's in Redwood City. Undergrads could load up on good Italian food and the price was low. About 10 years ago, George Bollag and Louis Frutschi teamed up and bought the place, and converted it to one of the most authentic French restaurants in the Bay Area — L'Auberge. Now old Stanford grads return to the place to dine elegantly and relive old memories of good dining and freshmen hijinks of long ago. . . . Party Organizers. There are nineteen meeting rooms available at the Hyatt on Union Square, a luxurious 36-story hotel in San Francisco. The two-levels of meeting rooms include seven on the first level which can be divided into smaller areas in many combinations. The second level contains Plaza Square Ballroom with capacity of 1,000. Also a series of second floor "board meeting rooms" designed to provide living room atmosphere. On the entertainment agenda: Doug Arrington and Secret Sauce are featured in the Inoui, 36 stories up, Tuesdays to Saturdays from 9 p.m., for listening and dancing. In the One Up, John Pietrimonoco offers piano renditions while guests leisurely enjoy lunch, cocktails, dinner and a vista view from 36 stories above the City.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Whiskey Hill Now Called Sneaky Pete's

Whiskey Hill no longer exists! This downtown Burlingame club, a mecca for live entertainment and dancing, is now "officially" called Sneaky Pete's. The name, coined by club owner Pete Brallier, goes right along with the recent remodeling — creating a complete new image. Held over are George 'n Teddy, two fabulous entertainers with the "now" sound. Also Sunday concerts Vince Licata, the "dapper Dan" of Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant, offers a variety of exceptional recipes on his menu, all prepared with your gourment taste in mind. This San Mateo restaurant draws its appreciative devotees from all over the Bay Area. There's a Fish Depot next door for all varieties of fresh fish (when available) to prepare at home . . . The Marmite in Redwood City is a great luncheon spot. There's quite a selection of sandwiches, as well as several hot entrees (served with mini-loaf and whipped butter), crepes and pastries. You'll love the Beef Burgundy Crepes . . . While the regular band at Holiday Inn, Belmont, is taking a month's vacation, General Manager Joe De Dio has booked Joe Richie and Grand Marnier in the Tuesday-through-Saturday Ivory Coast Lounge spotlight.

Shakey's Mary Bate Member of Girls Ork.

Mary Bate, who provides the organ entertainment at Shakey's in Burlingame on Friday and Saturday nights, is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon. After teaching music for several years, she joined Ada Leonard's All-American Girls Orchestra and toured the Keith-Orpheum Theater Circuit. . . . Erik Pedersen, general manager of the Rodeway Inn, a nine-story hotel located just five minutes north of the San Francisco International Airport in South San Francisco, has plans to vary the entertainment policy. Understand he will be booking well known local bands to appear in the Golden Rooster lounge on the off nights. Meanwhile, Sugar 'n' Spice continues to draw dancing crowds Tuesday through Saturday nights. . . . No matter what means of transportation to Nevada you choose, Park Avenue Tours is "at your service" with enticing packages and bonuses. Overnighters, via Greyhound Bus, to South Lake Tahoe include accommodations in a deluxe motel and generous bonuses from Sahara Tahoe. Departures Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. Also available are Drive-up packages, which are offered every day of the week. A total bonus value of $10 includes $6 cash, $1 food credit, $3 cocktails. (Two night stay, $13 refund). Cost for one night stay is $10.95 per person (double occupancy). $4 more on Saturday. Park Avenue Tours also has charters for groups.

MINI-SIZE COMEDIENNE — Sloopy, with the Red Barons, is a vibrant entertainer who has magnificent rapport with her audiences in the Theater Lounge, Harvey's Resort Hotel, South Lake Tahoe, through June 12.

Try Maerd Eip Pie At Scotty Campbell's

Executive chefs have prepared a sweeping menu, ranging from specialties from the Pantry and Tureen to Sweets and Drinks at Scotty Campbell's, in Redwood City. Among the gourmet dinner entrees: Scotty's Special Prime Club Steak, Barbecued Baby Back Ribs, Steak and Lobster, Broiled Mahi Mahi Almondine, and Scampi. A big favorite is Prime Rib of Beef (as you like it). Take the suggestion of your Bright Lighter and top your meal with the Maerd Eip (cheese pie served with brandied cherries). The exceptional gourmet is served in as professional a capacity as is humanly possible at this delightful restaurant. . . . If the weather continues to be as blistering as it was last week, you will really enjoy a short trek to Pacifica, where the ocean breezes can lower tempers and temperatures by many degrees. And a great dining spot located just off Highway One, on Hewitt Avenue in Rockaway Beach, is Romano's Italian restaurant, which specializes in Italian food and pizza variety. . . . A highlight of dinner at Lehr's Greenhouse restaurant in San Francisco is the enticing salad bar, stocked with everything you need to create a luscious salad exactly to your taste.

Lamaze Film to Be Shown in San Mateo

The public is invited to a film showing on the Lamaze Method of childbirth June 14 from 8 to 9:30 p.m. at the Episcopal Church of the Transfiguration, parish hall, 39th and Alameda de las Pulgas, San Mateo.

Donations requested will be 50 cents per person.

At least two of the following films will be shown? "Becoming"; "The Story of Eric"; "The Story of Childbirth"; and "A Shared Beginning." In addition, a representative of La Leche League will be present to discuss breast feeding.

The Lamaze Method is a form of Prepared Childbirth in which both the husband and wife participate in the childbirth experience. Through Lamaze classes, the expectant couple learns breathing and relaxation techniques as well as other measures which help the wife cope with her labor and delivery.

Lamaze film showings are sponsored by the American Society for Psychoprophylaxis in Obstetrics.

RC AIRMAN

SAN ANTONIO — Airman Steven D. Gurney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. R. Gurney of 2426 Edith Ave., Redwood City, has been assigned to Sheppard AFB, Tex., after completing Air Force basic training.

DC Couple First to Cross Over

Two Daly City people were the very first North Americans Friday to cross into the United States through a $5 million border station just opened at Calexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederico Engelhard, 156 Flournoy Street, Daly city, came through the new border station right after opening ceremonies and a ribbon cutting by mayors of Calexico and Mexicali.

"They were nonplussed," reports Margaret Bayless of the General Services Administration which built the new structure of eight entry gates and 108,000 square feet of floor space.

"We brought them through and gave them a certificate proving they really were the first ones through. They were amazed. We had bands, singing groups, dinitaries, the whole thing."

Chorus Auditions Scheduled

Dr. William Ballard, Music Director-Elect of the San Francisco Boys Chorus, will conduct auditions for new members June 15.

Any boy age 8-12 with a good, unchanged voice is eligible to try-out. Previous musical training is not required.

In addition to its concert appearances, the Boys Chorus provides singers for children's parts for the San Francisco Opera and performs with the San Francisco Symphony and other Bay Area orchestras.

The boys receive choral training and perform a wide variety of choral works. Rehearsals are held twice a week in San Francisco.

Those boys interested in auditioning should telephone 431-5450 for an appointment and further particulars.

AIR FORCE BASIC

Airman Jeffry K. Westbrook, son of Mrs. Consuelo H. Westbrook of 555 Dolphin Drive, Pacifica, has been assigned to Keesler AFB, Miss., after competing Air Force basic training. During his six weeks at the Air Training Command's Lackland AFB, Tex., he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations. The airman has been assigned to the Technical Training Center at Keesler for specialized training in communications-electronics systems. Airman Westbrook, whose father, Jesse P. Westbrook, resides at 648 Manor Drive, attended Oceana High School.

Convention Director Sought

San Mateo County's Convention and Visitors Bureau is seeking a new executive director to replace James E. Jones, whose resignation was accepted recently.

Assistant Director Alex Fletcher also resigned.

Both resignations were accepted "by mutual consent" by President Irving Amstrup on behalf of the Board of Directors.

The action took place during the board's meeting in which convention coordinator Mrs. Betty Morris was promoted to the position of assistant director.

Immediate plans were made to solicit and screen applicants. William Pocock, head of the agency's advertising and public relations service, William Pocock & Associates, was named to assist the board with administrative duties while a new director is being selected.

Jones, who has been with the Convention Bureau since its activation in January, 1972, after splitting off from the San Mateo County Fair said he "plans to go into writing again."

He said, "I love my typewriter, but I haven't had time to sit down and write a story since I came here.

Jones has written professionally for more than 20 years, and was active in the Society of American Travel Writers, and in developing articles for magazines and books.

He said he is proud of the Convention Bureau's successes since he has been its head.

"Our first year, 1972, there were 40,000 convention delegates to San Mateo County. In 1973, there were about 79,000. Even with the Airport Plaza closed, we will push close to 100,000 this year.

"Business is good, and all the hotel rooms in the county are full."

Jones said the "various city members of the board are wonderful people, and give a lot of their time to this job.

"Alex and I both left amicably," he said.

Terra Nova 2-1 Loser in CCS Playoff

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Correspondent

SAN JOSE — The coveted Central Coast Section baseball championship literally slipped away from the Terra Nova Tigers last night in an emotional, fist-flurried 2-1 extra-inning loss to the Leigh Longhorns here at Municipal Stadium.

On two separate occasions the Tigers were as close as one out or one step away from victory and a championship berth, but neither time could they convert their opportunities.

The loss was a difficult one for senior lefthander Steve Shirley, who pitched as well as he has in his entire prep career. He struck out 14 batters in nine innings and allowed only five hits, three of which didn't have enough spin to reach the infield dirt and another which quailed between three converging defenders in shallow rightfield.

The one solid hit, however, was really a killer. Shirley and the Tigers took a precarious 1-0 lead into the seventh inning. Catcher Kelley Jackson walked after Shirley had him in the hole, 0-2. Terry Murray sacrificed him along to second and he went to third on an infield out by pinchhitter Joe McDonald.

But Steve Guyon, a surprise starter batting ninth in the order, got a letter-high fastball on a 1-1 count and roped a solid shot to the opposite field to knot the score one-all.

Shirley struck out the first batter, Jerry Jennings, for the third time to lead off the ninth, but Jim Fuson's blooper to right set up the emotion-charged rally. Jackson walked again but two pitches later TN catcher Reggie Pomicpic picked Fuson off second. In the rundown Fuson barreled into Tiger thirdbaseman Rich Stratfull, knocking him sliding pads over teakettle, after being tagged out.

Jackson moved to second on the play and went to third when Murray's bouncer to third went unthrown for an infield hit. Then with a full count and two outs on Don Mann, Shirley indicated he would wind up for the final pitch. Murray broke early from first, Shirley stepped off and raced him towards second as Jackson broke for home.

Shirley stopped, spun around, lost his footing and slipped to his knees for a moment. But Jackson, who apparently was a dead duck at home, used that extra time to race through one step ahead of the now-late throw for the winning run.

Murray continued around and after rounding third came back and simply pushed Stratfull away from the base. Stratfull, who by now figured he had seen and felt enough for one night, verbally responded and fists started flying between the two immediately. Both benches cleared, a secondary fight ensued, and it took umpires and coaches a few minutes to restore order. Both Stratfull and Murray were ejected.

Ace righthander Rick Foley came on in the bottom of the ninth to strike out the side for Leigh. It was anticlimatic by then. The Tigers had hit Guyon hard all evening getting five solid hits and three times as many solid outs, but the senior righthander just kept throwing strikes to eventually prevail.

Shirley's main problem, as expected, was wildness. He walked six, but even then took a no-hitter into the sixth inning. It was an unusual display for him as he would jump quickly ahead on batters 0-2 or 1-2 and then throw three or four straight balls to walk the batter and get into hot water.

"Steve threw well but its difficult to prepare during the week for the unexpected," said Tiger coach Marty Coil. "We didn't practice a defense against slipping. What a way to lose!"

Tiger Battery Is All-CCS

SAN JOSE — For the fourth consecutive year the champion of the West Valley Athletic League has gone on to become Central Coast Section baseball titlists as Leigh High School took the honors with a 5-1 victory over Sunnyvale in the finals.

Terra Nova, Region I representative, put on a shabby exhibition in the finale Saturday and lost a 5-3 decision to Alisal to wind up fourth.

Tiger pitcher Steve Shirley and catcher Reggie Pomicpic were selected to the All-CCS first team by section representatives.

Leigh won the title this year after Campbell won it the previous two years and Branham High School took the honors in 1971. The only time a Region I team has gone all the way was in 1969 when Terra Nova won the CCS championship.

Girls in Sports

Much has been made, this past school year, of the fact of girls participating on what had previously been thought of as boys' teams, but relatively little publicity has been accorded our own local North Peninsula League. It has had at least as many girls playing "boys" sports as any league in the Bay Area, or more particularly to Terra Nova High, which, in spring sports, at least, may be the local mecca of female athletic participation.

This has all been dutifully pointed out by sports writer Doug Hansen in a story headlined, "You've Come a Long Way, Baby," in the current issue of Terra Nova's award winning news-magazine, Tiger Tales, out this week.

"This year . . . is the Year of the Tiger," reports Hansen, a self-confessed male chauvinist. "Maybe it should have been the Year of the Libber."

Hansen then goes on to disclose the almost unheralded fact that one of the key members of the varsity swim team, which this year took its second straight championship by going undefeated in league and dual meets and sweeping easily through the finals, was a a girl!

Patty Reardon, a junior, became the first girl in NPL history to win medals in the finals, as she swam to thirds in both the 100 yard backstroke and the 200 yard medley.

That wasn't all. The frosh-soph team, which took its third consecutive title also by going undefeated, had two girls on its team, freshman Corky Byran and sophomore Sue Stark. While Bryan did beat boys during the regular season, she didn't place in the trials. But Stark did, and went on to take a sixth in the 100 breaststroke in the finals.

When Hansen asked Reardon why girls like to compete with boys, she answered, "I like the challenge the boys give me . . . There's much more competition, and I like it."

HANSEN REPORTS that most of the boys on the team admitted that swimming with a girl causes no extra problems, but did note a comment by Lane Ogata, a member of the frosh-soph team. "Getting beat by a girl can be very damaging to a boy's ego. It's embarrassing, and it really hurts."

Hansen then goes on to tell about the two girls on the "boys" track team, Marcia Rapozo and Cindy Williamson; Rapozo being a distance runner for the varsity and Williamson a high jumper and 440 specialist for the frosh-soph.

Admittedly, they didn't have the impact on their respective squads that the lady swimmers had on theirs, but they hung in there, and were used, says assistant track coach Bernie Oliver, whenever they could fit into the schedule.

Hansen reports Oliver saying that, "I think it's good that girls are finally getting out and showing what they can do. Girls are unaware of their capabilities and should go out and show their skills."

The reader might by now be wondering why an avowed male chauvinist like Hansen would go to the trouble of eulogizing a group of girl athletes. Although he won't come right and admit it, it's probably because he is now a believer.

Must have had something to do with what happened toward the end of the frosh-soph baseball season. Hansen, a sophomore hurler for the team who throws hard enough to generally strike out more people than hit the ball off him, had a no-hitter going against Jefferson in the sixth inning, when a Jeff batter stung a blue-dart to right-center to break it up. The batter was a girl!

JOHN HANSEN, Sports Information Director for San Francisco State University, has been named Managing Editor of Viking Report, a new publication based in Minneapolis which will cover the Minnesota Vikings of the NFL.

Hansen, a State grad who also worked as a San Francisco Examiner reporter and as publisher of Bay Area Sports Scene, a sports newspaper exclusively covering high school athletics, thus returns to his native Midwest. He is a native of Chicago.

Cigar-chewing Bob Lotti, Terra Nova's new varsity football coach, has already made his "mark" on the Tiger football field, according to team members currently going through preliminary workouts.

"Man, just make sure where you fall after you've been hit," they tell newcomers, pointing to the former Westmoor assistant coach as he spews tobacco juice all over the grids.

Maybe that's Lotti's way of telling them not to fall after they've been hit.

Seniors Dominate Team

Shirley Heads All-County

and
STEVE JOHNSON

Twenty-two of the area's top senior athletes nabbed all but two spots on this year's star-studded San Mateo Times' All-County Baseball Team as chosen by area sportswriters.

Heading the baseball all-stars are North Peninsula League Player-of-the-Year Steve Shirley, three-time All-County selectee Steve Wallace and two-time representatives Erol Akchurin and Reggie Pomicpic.

Coach of the year is Pete Coconni of San Carlos, who led his Dons to three straight wins in the SPAL playoffs to take the crown away from Carlmont's veteran defending champs. It was SC's first title since 1966.

Shirley, hero of the Terra Nova Tigers' drive towards the Central Coast Section championship, was the unanimous choice as the area's top pitcher. He compiled a 6-2 record in the NPL with a 1.30 ERA, striking out 94 in 64 innings. He also batted a powerful .380 to lead the Tigers in that department.

Joining Shirley on the mound is Half Moon Bay righthander Jeff Ormonde, who, after a slow start, came on strong to lead the Cougars to a share of the NPL title.

Ormonde had a 5-2 mark with a 1.20 ERA, lowest in the league. His accomplishments included a double-header win for HMB in the finals of the Daly City Easter Invitational.

Behind the plate is Terra Nova catcher Reggie Pomicpic who was nearly flawless with 116 putouts, tops in the area, with just two errors. He also batted .326 driving in 14 runs in 14 games for the Tigers.

Wallace hit .419 for SPAL round robin champ Carlmont with 12 RBI's. His 19 career extra base hits rank him first in league history. He is also rated one of the best defensive firstbasemen ever to play in the league.

Woodside's Gary Scott had a .392 average to go with four homers. He scored 15 runs and drove in 14. His .410 career average ranks fourth on the all-time SPAL list.

Hillsdale's Dave Perez culminated an outstanding three year career with his best season. He hit .400 with three homers and led the MPL in total bases. His range and throwing arm are excellent.

San Carlos' Scott Sedlacek came to be regarded by many observers as the best all-around infielder in the area by the end of the season. He hit .396 and had a top run production figure with 14 runs scored and 16 RBI's.

San Mateo's Barney Malpass, after hitting .250 in his junior year, terrorized MPL pitching all season. He was the league batting champ at .459 and led the league in RBI's with 14. He also scored 13 times.

Steve Shirley . . . Player of Year.

The third Terra Novan to make the first team was centerfielder Bill Bender, a slick bat-handling speedster who clipped along at a .357 clip in the NPL. His 12 RBI's added to his six extra-base hits made him one of the most feared batters around with his bunting adeptness.

HMB's Raymond Reyes made the squad this year as an outfielder as he led the Cougars at the plate with a .371 average and 11 RBIs. He also had a 5-2 mark on the mound with a 3.10 ERA in 42 innings.

Rounding out the outfield is the only first team junior, Tom Del Sarto of Sequoia. Del Sarto hit .429 to lead the best defensive outfielder in the league, throwing out eight runners at the plate and averaging an assist a game.

Burlingame's Akchurin is a repeater at the utility position. An extremely versatile infielder, Akchurin hit over .400 for the second straight year, although he failed to repeat his batting championship.

Second team pitchers are Ken Jungsten of Carlmont and John Tulich of Burlingame, who accounted for 14 wins between them. Oceana catcher Carlton Huff drove in 14 runs.

Second team infield spots are manned by: Jefferson's Marty Ross, one of the NPL's top sticks; Serra's Tevis Martin, equally good with the bat and glove; Burlingame's Tom Frederico, one of the finest shortstop candidates from

First base belongs to Half Moon Bay's Joe Dale, whose steady play was a key in the Cougars' surprise finish. Utility honors go to only the second junior on the two squads, El Camino's jack-of-all-trades Barry Rozzi.

Holding down the second team outfield positions are: Woodside's Jack Henderson, who tied for the SPAL RBI lead; Cap's Steve Sbragia, consistently a standout in three years on the Mustang varsity; and Menlo's John Crockett, who went 39-39 in the stolen base department.

Cerutty Clinic At Hillsdale

Percy Wells Cerutty, founder of the International Health, Athletic and Fitness Centre at Portsea, Australia, will give a lecture-demonstration June 8 at 8 p.m. at Hillsdale High School.

Admission to the clinic, which is being sponsored by the West Valley Track Club, is $5.

Cerutty has coached and trained many athletes who have broken world records, including Herb Elliott, John Landy and Margaret Court.

Bearcat Golfers Down El Camino

San Mateo High continues along its merry way to a possible CCS golf title after capturing the Region I title last Tuesday at San Mateo municipal golf course.

The Bearcats scored 390 to Bellarmine's 393 and El Camino's 410 in the gusty winds. They now advance to the CCS Finals today at Rancho Canada in Monterey.

Bill Lancaster paced the Cat effort with a fine 73 which was the second lowest round of the day. Dave Biehl and Steve Robinson both backed him up with 76's.

Ken Wittsell of El Camino braved the winds for a 75, low for the Colts. Mike Weichers of Bellarmine, brother of touring pro Jim, took his team's honors with a 77.

And in the individsal category (in which the top four also advance to Rancho Canada) Mife Cato of Hillsdale, Greg Schreeve of Mills, Rick Nichols of Terra Nova and Steve Lande of Oceana all qualified. Nichols had the low round of the day, a 72. Schreeve carded a 73.

INDIVIDUAL SCORES: Nichols (Terra Nova) 72; Schreeve (Mills) 73; Cato (Hillsdale) 74; Lande (Oceana) 75; Chargin (Mitty) 76; Kain (Serra) 77; Peterson (Serramonte) 77; Hales (Burlingame) 77; Fanelli (St. Ignatius 77; Doss (Terra Nova) 79; Cullen (St. Ignatius) 82; Williams (Aragon) 83.

Barclay Wins

Jack Barclay swept past Gary Peterson, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, Sunday to annex the Woodlake single's tournament championship. The match consumed two hours and attracted an aroused gathering of more than a dozen people.

Serra Swim Coach Is Appointed

George King, director of aquatics for San Mateo, has been named varsity swimming and water polo coach at Serra High school, beginning in September. King is also senior coach of the San Mateo Marlins.

In addition to coaching duties during the regular school year, King will direct Serra's summer swim program which offers a variety of swimming programs open to the public.

King said that the Serra job was a special challenge for him considering the school's fine record in the WCAL and CCS over the past years. He anticipates continued varsity and frosh-soph WCAL victories in 1975 because "Serra's many fine swimmers are returning next Fall and will be joined by a number of outstanding freshmen."

The new Serra coach will not have duties outside of coaching and will not teach swimming to physical education classes.

He replaces Gus DeGara who was at Serra for 10 years and has taken a position at Livermore.

Aquatic Club Tryouts Set

Coach Attends Swimming Clinic

Rick Haffey, assistant coach of the South San Francisco Aquatics Club, attended the National Swimming Coaches Clinic held in Anaheim May 24-26.

Subjects included all areas of competitive swimming, psychology, weight lifting, scuba diving, water polo, diving, and synchronized swimming.

Haffey, a graduate of El Camino High School, where he was a member of the swimming and water polo teams, has been with the SSFAC since November, 1973. He presently is attending California State University at San Francisco.

Haffey and Joel O'Connell coach the S.S.F. Parks and Recreation Department sponsored swim team, which practices each weekday afternoon from 5 to 7 p.m. The next tryouts for the swim team are scheduled for the week of June 3-7. Boys and girls, ages 5-17, are eligible if they can swim 25 yards, crawl and breaststroke.

Once on the team, members attend a swim meet monthly, competing against swimmers of their own age and ability from throughout San Mateo County and part of Santa Clara County. Winners of each event receive ribbons, and those with exceptinal times receive medals. Swimmers also become members of the Amateur Athletic Union.

The Club is open to residents of the South San Francisco Unified School District. It will also accept a limited number of non-residents.

Signups Being Taken For Westlake Tourney

The Westlake Catholic Men will hold their annual Golf Tournament June 8.

This year the tournament will be played on one of California's most demanding courses at Half Moon Bay.

The public is welcome to participate, but reservations must be made.

Twenty-five dollars per person will include green fees, a golf cart, and a prime rib dinner. The dinner will be at the Red Chimney in Stonestown at 7 p.m.

For reservations call the tournament chairman A. J. Phillips, at 755-1974 or 756-6810.

A. J. PHILLIPS (left), tournament chairman, and Mike Millane prepare for a practice round of golf in preparation of the forthcoming Westlake tournament June 8.

Jr. Olympic Signups Set

A series of qualifying meets will be held for the Pacific Association AAU Junior Olympics, qhich will take place July 13 and 14 at Mills High School.

The first qualifying meet will be held Saturday at South San Francisco High School, followed by a meet June 7 and 8 at the Burlingame High field.

Signups at both meets will be taken up until 10 a.m., with all entrants in possession of an AAU card or by contacting Ed Hanson, Burlingame Intermediate School.

Open to boys and girls, the meets will be divided into five divisions.

New Swim Club 3rd

The new NorCal Aquatics Club, comprised of the Belmont-San Carlos Trident Swim Club, the Mt. Diablo Swim Club and the Spartan Swim Club of Palo Alto, took third place in the Kris Kjeldsen Memorial Long Course meet at Stockton over the weekend.

Three team members — Vickie Brusati, Dana Davidson and Jan Davidson — qualified for the Junior Nationals, to be held in Lincoln, Nebraska later this year.

In addition, Dana broke the National mark in the girls' 10-and-under 100 meter freestyle with a 1:04.7 clocking and sister Jan set a new standard in 12-year-old 50 meter free with a 28.9 effort.

Following are the top NorCal team member placers and A and AA time winners:

Girls: 10/under — Dana Davidson, 1st 50 breast 40.6, 1st 100m fly 1:15.1, 1st 50m free 30.5, 1st 200 IM 2:46.0 (Pacific Association Record), 1st 50m back 35.5 (Pacific Association Record), 1st 100m free (National and Pacific Association Record), 1st 50m fly 34.3, 1st 00m free 2:24.2 (Pacific Association Record), 1st 100 back 1:23.2; 3rd 50m back 40.8, 3rd 100m back 1:27.5; 11-12- Jan Davidson, 1st 50m free 28.9 (National and Pacific Association Record), 2nd 400m free 5:11.6, 2nd 50m breast 39.2, 1st 50m back 34.3, 2nd 100m breast 1:27.3

WE READ where the Brazilian government has forbidden their soccer super-star, Pele, from giving television commentries or conducting interviews during World Cup matches because Brazilian law forbids non-professionals from doing broadcast journalism.

Oh, Brazilian laws, where were you when Milt Kahn was around!?

STATISTICAL CORNER: Despite their low batting average, their disappointing homerun hitting, their errant base running and their runners-left-on-base totals, the Giants are third in all of the major leagues in run production, and just barely behind second place Houston, at that. Sort of makes you wonder what they could do if they started hitting and turned smart.

In the meanwhile, the Dodgers, who lead the majors in run production and just about everything else to do with offense, may not be a fluke, after all. Their Albuquerque farm team in the Pacific Coast League is not only leading the league, but is hitting .334 as a team!

But they at least haven't cornered the homerun market in that league. That distinction belongs to the new Sacramento franchise, whose team was hit twice as many homers as any other team in the league. The fact that the Solon left field fence is just 233 feet from home plate may have something to do with it.

BACK TO THOSE run-scoring Giants. A lot of fans have been asking what's wrong with them. The answer seems fairly obvious. No team which has lost the services for any substantial length of time — as the Giants have 8 of a 24-game winner, an established .300 hitter, and a fine fielding, a .275 hitting second baseman, can expect to run away with a pennant race.

On the other hand, rookie Steve Ontiveros has filled in reasonably well for .300 hitting first baseman Ed Goodson (whose place Ontiveros has technically taken, even though he's playing third, because third baseman Dave Kingman is playing first), and young Mike Phillips has generally filled in admirably for Fuentes. But nobody has taken Bryant's place. Some might argue that newcomer Mike Caldwell has, but Caldwell has not taken Bryant's place. He would have been an important starting pitcher even if Bryant had been healthy. He was that extra starter the Giants needed, but which they now don't have because Bryant never took diving lessons as a youngster.

So if you really want to pinpoint the big Giant problem, it is still basically pitching, despite their surprisingly good pitching performance thus far, because of Bryant, and because they still don't have something they haven't had since they won their division title in 1971 — a left hander who can come out of the bullpen and baffle good left handed hitters.

FOOTNOTE: If Gary Matthews is going to suffer a sophomore jinx, Gary Thomasson should be put into the lineup until the malady ceases. Or somebody should at least give Matthews fielding lessons.

Horrible Thought: If the Giants suffer a June swoon this year, they'll be 15-20 games out by July.

TN Students Awarded In AAA Safety Contest

Six students from Terra Nova High School in Pacifica received awards May 23 for their entries in the American Automobile Association's School Traffic Safety Poster Contest.

The contest is sponsored annually in this area by the California State Automobile Association (AAA) to stimulate awareness of traffic safety through poster designs illustrating correct pedestrian behavior.

In March the CSAA held its 11th annual regional contest in San Francisco. Directly after the regional contest all entries were sent to Washington, D.C. for judging in the 30th annual national AAA contest.

The following students received awards in the regional contest: Bob Erickson, commendation; Guillermo Gonzalez, Jr., commendation; and Lynn Enckritz, commendation.

National contest winners were: Rob Erickson, commendation; Cynthia Jang, commendation; Charlie C. Lee, honorable mention; and Brian Delappe, commendation.

The awards were presented to the students by Paul San Gregorio, assistant manager for the CSAA Serramonte ditrict. The winning posters are part of the safetry poster exhibit which will be on display at the Serramonte AAA office during the month of JUNE.

Scouts Complete Skating Test

A second grade Blue Bird group, The Canaries from Franklin D. Roosevelt School in Daly City recently completed the Pre Alpha test after a four week course in ice skating at the San Francisco Ice Arena.

Girls who took the course were Michele Rudovsky, Kelly Burger, Michelle Polidori and Michelle Edmondson.

The Canaries, including Christina Famoso, who were not able to attend the skating sessions are planning a three-day campout for their final event of the year according to their leader Mrs. Kathleen Rudovsky.

It will take place at San Mateo Memorial Park where they are planning to learn to make and follow a trail, Junior First Aid and Safety with fire.

The girls also recently took part in the Daly City Grand Council fire held at the War Memorial Building.

City of Hope Proclamation

Daly City Mayor McRobert Stewart issued the following proclamation designating the month of June "City of Hope Month."

WHEREAS, The City of Hope dedicated to alleviating human suffering, is fighting the battle for better health for all our citizens through a three-fold program of patient care, research and post graduate medical education; and

WHEREAS, for more than half a century this national Medical Center has kept its doors open to victims of catastrophic diseases from our City, the State and the Nation, and during the last year provided treatment for 50,000 in-and-out patients, regardless of race, creed or national origin, entirely free of charge; and

WHEREAS, the most modern scientific technique and medical care aid sufferers from cancer, leukemia, blood, chest and heart disorders; and the City of Hope Children's Wing is making a distinct contribution to the treatment of stricken youngsters through its parent program; and

WHEREAS, many of our citizens are members of auxiliairies which support the work of the City of Hope through their activities, and now also appeal to the generosity of the public.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, McROBERT L. STEWART, Mayor of the City of Daly City, do hereby proclaim the month of June, 1974, as "CITY OF HOPE MONTH" in Daly City, and I urge everyone to support in every way possible this Medical Center that symbolizes new hope to mankind.

Community Plan for Health Study Completed

A case of hurry up and slow down has afflicted the Comprehensive Health Planning Council (CHPC) of San Mateo County.

The local CHPC has completed its 1974 Community Plan for Health and is ready to submit it to the State CHP Unified Plan for Health.

However, the state is not ready to receive it.

Robert L. Spence, president of the San Mateo County CHPC, informed directors of the council Thursday night that the county has adopted an "action plan," but that the state format for accepting such plans will not be approved and ready for use by the State Health Advisory Council for another 30 to 60 days.

"We would be spinning our wheels to approve (the San Mateo County plan) under a format which has not been approved," Spence told the board of directors.

The 1974 Community Plan for Health contains 387 recommendations for upgrading all facets of health care in San Mateo County.

The rapidity in which San Mateo County devised its recommendations under a concerted effort has outstripped other areas in the state, resulting now in postponing of action on the local plan until late summer or early fall, Spence said.

However, the board did proceed to follow through with its avowed intention and lifted the moratorium on health facility expansions and closures which had been in effect for the past 15 minutes pending completion of the Community Plan for Health.

The action does not mean that the CHPC is saying that additional hospital and nursing home beds are needed in the county, Spence said. A need will have to be shown on such requests, but "we are ready to respond," he stated.

Spence reported that the Burlingame Convalescent Hospital has filed a letter of intent with the CHPC seeking approval of replacing its 120-bed facility.

Ron Marshall, executive director of the CHPC, reported that although the federal legislation creating the comprehensive health planning system in the country ends June 30, but probably will be extended through next April until a Health Systems Agency is established to replace and carry on the existing programs.

There is a "lot of uncertainty" concerning what the new system will bring, Marshall said, particularly as to how it will be administered — under a system of providers and consumers, such as the present CHPC, under the county, or by some other method.

"It seems to be the attitude of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare," Marshall reported, "to delegate more control to local agencies."

It would be desirable, he stated, to have a framework of consumer control, public accountability, and emphasis on preventative aspects of medicine to balance with treatment, and a policy of recertifying health care institutions every five years.

Spence said he is hopeful that the transition will be done on an orderly basis by Congress so that there is not a gap between what has been accomplished to date under the CHPC and any future programs.

Deaths

BRAULIA RODRIQUEZ

Braulia Rodriquez, 88, South San Francisco, died May 29.

A native of Mexico, she resided in South San Fancisco for 19 years.

Survivors include her husband, Gonzalo; two daughters, Julia Gomez of South San Francisco and a daughter in Mexico, 12 grandchildren, 25 great-grandchildren, and 11 great-great grandchivdren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday from Nauman & Lincoln Mortuary, South San Francisco, thence to All Souls Catholic Church where a Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated. Interment followed at the family plot in Mexico.

DR. ROBERT A. BILAFER

Dr. Robert A. Bilafer, 66, a physician who practiced 40 years in Daly City and San Francisco, collapsed Wednesday at his desk in Daly City and succumbed at Mary's Help Hospital.

Surviving are his widow, Dorothy, of the family home, 25 Broadmoor Drive, San Francisco; four daughters, Barbara Gewecke, Beverly Viotti, Madelene Ennis and Arlene Pasalacqua; two sons, Robert A. Bilafer Jr. and Michael Bilafer; a brother, Dr. Mitchell J. Bilafer; a sister, Mary Portman; and 18 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. Friday at the Arthur J. Sullivan & Co. mortuary, 2254 Market St., San Francisco, followed by a Mass of Christian Burial at the Church of the Nativity, San Francisco. Burial was at Holy Cross Cemetery.

ALBERT A. CASSINELLI

THE MARQUEE

By Barbara Bladen

Rays of 'Sunshine' to Cheer Us All

When the curtain opens on the American Conservatory Theatre production of Neil Simon's "The Sunshine Boys" with Jose Ferrer nestled down into an easy chair before a babbling TV soap opera, one's first concern was how aged he'd become.

But soon the fun starts and you realize that this superb veteran performer has again transformed himself into a character who will transport us into another world. It is that of a crusty, cranky, gravel voiced and complaining retired vaudevillian who can't get work doing commercials because he can't remember the name of the product he's selling but still runs his old routines on anyone who will listen including his nephew, a nurse, and anyone within earshot.

And pairing him with Phil Leeds, the man whose face is hung with matched bags under each eye, ear, his nose and throat, is as good an investment for a riotously funny evening as any you can remember.

The two harmonize and verbalize in counterpoint like a well-tuned musical duet, bouncing jibes and retorts back and forth with the alacrity of fencing champions.

As Willie Clark and Al Lewis, sparring partners from the heyday of vaudeville, now coerced out of retirement to perform their specialty act "The Doctor" for a TV special, they precariously tightrope walk across the barren ashes of hoary old chestnut jokes. They are masters of timing, inflection and downstage mugging. Watching these two impeccable pros recreate the broadsides of burlesque is a happy occasion.

We're treated to two sides of both personalities — the actor as a person and the actor as part of his entertainment posture. When they finally agree to rehearse their 43-year-old routine they're slick and outrageous.

But in those caustic moments when one is visiting the other after a heart attack and the touching sentimentality of two long-time partners strains at the seams of a lifelong friendship, the brilliance of these two New York actors rates highest praise. Even their silences and slow burn stares make audacious points.

Some of Simon's funny business becomes strained and the lack of real conflict is annoyingly transparent. But you can't turn your eyes or ears away from the caustic banter that forms almost a musical tapestry between the two as they air their petty grievances of each other and bicker like lovers over the most minute detail while acknowledging that each is "the best in the business."

Director Jeremiah Morris has worked ACT actors Henry Hoffman, Vivian Bonnell, Carolyn Jean Norman, Joseph Bird and Len Pera into a tight little comedic package with Leeds and Ferrer as the prizes, booby and otherwise.

Between the tantrums and the childishly tender concern for each other's health, there is a flood of laughter that may strike some people as New York-oriented but it bring back poignant memories of an era when comedy wasn't mean or cruel. It didn't hit over the head or under the belt but jabbed gently at the rib cage.

Imagine hearing half the audience laught at jokes that are 50 years old and the other half thinking that playwright Simon made them up out of his head. It's a funny world and has been for a long time. What's happening these nights at the Geary Theater is a marvelous echo that has reverberated from the past to cheer us all.

Serramonte Sets YWCA Day

New YWCA classes are beginning now, and the organization will show demonstrations of classes offered.

Class demonstrations will be presented by students on June 8 from noon to 4:30 p.m. Among the demonstrations will be Polynesian dancing, belly dancing, judo, ballet, sky sailing, diet workshop and Chinese cooking.

Anyone interested in registering for a class or joining the YWCA may do so at the YWCA booth. Brochures will be available for all classes offered.

Shows will be presented every hour, and the public is invited.

Serramonte Center is located on Highway 280 at Serramonte Blvd. in Daly City.

Pacifica in Tie Vote On Harbor

The Pacifica City Council split 2-2, May 29, over possible city support of the Pillar Point Harbor project.

The issue is expected to be settled June 10 when Councilwoman Grace McCarthy is expected to be present to make up the full five-member council.

At one time, in debate over the issue, the parliamentary procedure over tie votes became so complicated that the council went on to other agenda items while City Atty. John Sherman reviewed his law books.

Councilman Stan Farber said Pacifica hopes to obtain funding from the harbor district for its proposed Rockaway Beach harbor.

"Let's not cut off our nose to spite our face," he said.

Councilwoman Janice Fulford retorted that eight million dollars had already been spent on Pillar Point, and that it was benefiting only a small wealthy minority of yacht owners. Mayor Aubrey Lumley claimed, however, that small boat owners were probably in the majority.

Daly City Bike Club Meet Set

The Daly City Department of Recreation, Parks and Maintenance, in response to a number of requests for a family bicycling club, invites interested residents of Daly City to a meeting for the purpose of organizing such a club.

This meeting will be at the Westlake Park Clubhouse at 10:30 a.m., June 8.

Suggested activities for this group would include bike tours of the Redwood Highway, Sonoma Wine area, trips to various beaches and points of interest and general picnic outings.

While the club would be of a family nature, individuals are invited to participate. Persons having questions in regard to this meeting should call Ed Tomasello, Recreation Superintendent at 992-5356.

Accidental Shooting in San Bruno

A young man, reportedly trying to unload an automatic pistol, accidentally shot himself in the left hand Sunday night, police said.

According to San Bruno police, Robert B. Fisher, 23, was treated at Kaiser Hospital, South San Francisco, after the bullet passed through the middle finger of his hand.

Police said the bullet, believed to have come from a 25 caliber pistol, went through an apartment wall at 705 Shelter Creek Lane, where the incident occurred, and lodged in the wall of another apartment, which was vacant.

ON CARRIER

Navy Seaman Kim E. Griggs, whose wife Sue is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Wicklund of 715 Galleon Lane, Foster City, left Alameda aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Ranger. He is enroute to join the U.S. Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific. Griggs will participate in fleet training exercises and visit many Far East countries during the cruise.

SSF Park Proposal Draws Fire

Unexpected opposition to a proposed ordinance regulating parks caused the South San Francisco City Council Monday night to hold over the ordinance for a 30-day study.

The 26-page ordinance had been introduced two weeks ago as a measure designed to give police and recreation personnel more authority in regulating behavior in the parks, according to Park and Recreation Supt. Dick Milkovich. He used a model ordinance that had been used by a number of other cities, including Santa Clara and Seattle for the new South San Francisco park ordinance.

Mayor Terry Mirri announced a meeting for June 27, at which interested citizens may meet with the Park and Recreation Dept. staff and commissioners, as well as city police, and work out problems in the ordinance.

Chief opponent to the ordinance was Paul Brownlee of Alta Mesa Drive, a student at College of San Mateo. He complained the ordinance is unclear in parts, and represents a waste of time, energy and money as far as its enforcement is concerned. Parts of it, he added, represented a denial of personal freedoms and personal rights.

He particularly scorned the section banning wearing of trunks and bikinis in park areas not designated for swimming.

"This would outlaw sunbathing," Brownlee declared.

He then cited additional language specifying that all costumes worn in the parks must conform to commonly accepted standards.

"It doesn't say what those standards are. Who will decide?"

He was indignant over the apparent outlawing of Frisbee tossing. The ordinance states that various games, including Frisbee, may be played only in areas designated for those games. No area is designated for Frisbee.

Another section states no person may carry firearms in the park. This would ban guns for police, Brownlee alleged.

He objected to a series of rules governing bicycles. One rule forbids bike-riders from carrying passengers. This would outlaw child-carriers on bikes, he alleged. The ordinance also seems to keep bicycles out of much of the park. Brownlee wondered how far the ban on fishing extended. He said he thought it could stop persons from fishing anywhere on the bay because the section's wording was so vague.

City Atty. John Noonan said the ordinance "does not say what you think it says."

Milkovich claimed the ordinance is needed to protect the general public's use of the park from those few persons who abuse their neighbors' rights.

He said there should be no question that indecent exposure was wrong, that fishing and swimming do not mix, that safety in bicycle riding must be enforced in order to avoid injuries and lawsuits, and that vandalism must be combatted.

He charged that growing vandalism in city parks can cost the taxpayers $10,000 to $30,000 a year. In recent months, picnic tables and barbecues have been torn up in the new Westborough Park, as well as other neighborhood parks. He asked that if the new ordinance is not adopted immediately, then an emergency ordinance be adopted setting park hours, so that all persons can be kept out after 9 p.m.

However, opposition developed to this proposal too.

Councilman Leo Padreddii complained that innocent persons strolling through the park would be arrested by police while vandals would continue to go free — "for they can't arrest them now."

Bob Anderson of Fairfax Drive expressed fear that the common greens of Westborough's townhouse neighborhoods would come under the new ordinance. Milkovich said that was not the intent — but the wording of the ordinance did not make that intent clear.

County Disaster Problems Told

San Mateo County, which has already "experienced two major events within the year," is one of the most difficult areas in the state to set up an emergency help program.

This was the message delivered to the San Mateo County Council of Mayors Friday night in Belmont by William C. Hinchcliff, county civil defense and disaster area administrator.

The two events already experienced, Hinchcliff reported were:

The winter snows that left 25,000 trees down, presenting such a fire hazard now that the State Division of Forestry had reinforced its forces in the county, and, Gas rationing.

"A 911 Study Committee" has been looking at San Mateo County, Hinchcliff said, and found it presents a real problem in disaster response because of the overlacking of jurisdictions.

He pointed to telephone exchanges, for example, which cover more than one jurisdiction. The Burlingame exchange, for example, is split into Millbrae and goes into Hillsborough, and some fire districts cover more than one city.

This, he said, presents "a real problem to San Mateo County."

A "911 Study Committee," composed of police and fire chiefs, city managers, representatives of private industries and civil defense officials have been looking into the problem, and a state grant of $48,880 to study the problem has been approved by state legislators in Sacramento.

After two meetings, the "911 Study Committee," has agreed that of several consultant firms, Public Systems, Inc., could best make a disaster response feasibility study, Hinchcliff reported.

He said that the company will develop a plan that will have a minimum of three options for a disaster plan for the county, and then will brief city and county officials who must agree on a county-wide disaster plan by a July, 1975 deadline.

The plan, he promised when approved, must be acceptable to all city and county officials.

In other actions, the mayors:

Supported Senate Bill 546 which would change the composition of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District to give greater representation to more heavily populated counties on the basis of one man one vote rule.

Received a request from Menlo Park that the Mayors Council "a watchdog committee" to appear before the State Public Utilities Commission to see that concerted action is taken to upgrade Southern Pacific commute service in the county.

Menlo Park Mayor Ira E. Bonde reported that local bus services could be wiped out if some proposed rapid transit system were put into effect, and charged that the railroad company "really has been pushing everyone aside."

2 Killed In Accident

Two persons were killed and two others seriously injured when a camper truck and a car collided on Coast Highway and Westport Drive in Pacifica May 28.

According to Pacifica police, Wendy Kam Lee, 17, 59 Santa Ana Drive, Daly City, apparently pulled out of Westport Drive in the Fairway Park District into the path of the camper truck, driven by Elvin Harold Weddle, 64, Pacifica. It was just at the southern terminus of the Coast Freeway and the truck was going at freeway speeds.

Wendy's mother, Chan Ching Ha Lee, 56, was killed outright. Her father, Fook Kwan Lee, 58, was thrown from the car, and died at 4:45 p.m. of massive head injuries at Mary's Help Hospital.

Wendy and her sister, Judy Kam Lee, 20, were rushed to the hospital for treatment.

Pacifica Boy Drowns

Funeral services were held last week for a two-year-old Pacifica boy, Vincent Keith Lytle, 100 Troglia Terrace, Pacifica, who drowned on a Memorial Day family outing.

Walter Keith Lytle, were camping near Oakhurst in Fresno County; he apparently wandered away. His parents missed him almost immediately but not before he fell into a raging creek, swollen from fast-melting snow.

Vincent was the youngest of four children. He had an older brother, Gregory, and two sisters, Valerie and Leona. The Lytles have resided in Pacifica 10 years. The father is an electrician.

Services were held at Vista Del Mar Baptist Church in Pacifica. Interment followed at Olivet Cemetery. Services were under the direction of Nauman & Lincoln Mortuary.

Mayors Seek To Keep Chope Hospital Open

The San Mateo County Council of Mayors — without a dissenting vote — Friday night urged that Chope Community Hospital be kept open.

The vote would have been unanimous except that representatives of two cities, Brisbane and Pacifica, abstained from voting.

For a moment it appeared the mayors would take no action on the issue at their meeting in Belmont when Mayor McRobert L. Stewart of Daly City, citing a debate at the mayors' meeting a month ago on the hospital's fate, asked if the mayors cared to take some kind of position.

He was greeted with no response.

"The silence overwhelms me," Stewart commented.

A few seconds passed before Henry E. Anthony, mayor of the East Palo Alto Municipal Council, rose and declared, "I would favor keeping the hospital open."

Anthony said that while there was some agreement "decentralization of hospital services might be good," there is a fear people may be turned away from other facilities if Chope is closed."

Anthony said that at a meeting of the East Palo Alto Municipal Council, 500 people turned out to express their fears that Chope would be closed and questioned where you would get the "good service" now provided by the county hospital.

"East Palo Alto has taken the position that it be kept open," Anthony declared.

His motion that the mayors' council urge the Board of Supervisors keep the hospital open was seconded by Mayor Tony Governale of San Bruno. Councilman John A. Bernard of San Bruno commented he had heard "so much conflicting information" from both sides, both of whom seemed "sincere."

Councilman Irving S. Amstrup of Burlingame said that while his city favored keeping the county facility open, the city council felt its funciton should be spelled out. "Is it just a hospital?" Amstrup asked. "That's not enough. Is it a hospital, an outpatient clinic or what? Are we to keep it open as it is today?"

Councilman Anthony Giammona of Daly City declared that his primary concern about closing of the hospital is that many people feel decentralization will not provide "the present level of service; that it will not be as responsive to the people's needs."

Pointing out how many private hospitals require the filling out of forms before teating a patient, Giammona asserted, "I feel Chope is doing a great job. No one has really addressed themselves to the question that if people now going to Chope will get the same service elsewhere."

Anthony suggested that transportation service be provided to the San Mateo hospital, and said it would be "dangerous" if it were closed.

Councilman Leo Padreddii of South San Francisco said that as an investigator for Medicare, "I cannot see any way you can close Chope down."

Padreddii noted the heavy load carried by the Santa Clara County hospital, and pointed that convalescent hospitals are limited in their facilities and they are getting to the point where facilities are no longer available.

"My feeling is that the people of my community want it kept open," Councilman Robert A. Jones of Belmont added.

Mayor H. James Duffelmeyer of Foster City said ther would be "a lack of service in the interim" if Chope were not kept open.

The vote in favor of maintaining Chope as a community hospital was 16 to 0.

Plants That Eat Bugs

By IVA NEWMAN

Dionaea Muscipula (Venus Fly Trap Plant) is recognized as being one of the strangest members of the botanical world. These are the plants that Charles Darwin called, "The most wonderful plants in the world."

This is a house plant that is both, an insectivorous as well as a carnivorous plant in that it gets its nourishment from insects as well as tiny pieces of raw meat. One of our friends kept one of these plants on his office desk and carried tiny bits of hamburger to the office to feed it.

This amazing insect-eating house plant lures, catches and eats live insects during the insect season. In winter months, an occasional very tiny piece of raw (unseasoned) hamburger satisfies its appetite. Colorful leafy traps grow within a matter of weeks from bulbs. These unique traps open up and attract unwary flies, mosquitos, and other insects and when one lands on the inner surface of the trap it snaps shut to digest its victim. If the trap is teased to snap shut by a pencil, it will reopen again when it finds no food inside.

The inside of the trap is like the inside of a human stomach. Digestion begins as soon as food is taken in. Insects are lured by a sweet smelling juice manufactured by the traps. Then all the insect needs to do is take the fatal step of touching one of the bristles of the trap and the lobe snaps shut with the insect a prisoner in the trap. Digestion is speeded by the insect thrashing around to escape, causing glands to work faster. Depending on the size of the insect, the trap will open again in five to eight days to await another meal. The skeletal remains of the insect are then dropped out.

Electric Current

What makes the lobes of the trap close? In the 1950s scientists discovered an electric current in the lobe and believe the touching of the bristles of the lobe causes an electrical action to close the trap.

The Venus Fly Trap is found only in North and South Carolina. It can be grown outdoors in its native region, but in other areas it is easier managed in the home or in a cool greenhouse. It grows perfectly in wet sphagnum moss with a pH of about 4.0 or 4-5 or in a similarly acid mixture of sand and peat which is kept saturated.

The plant is a perennial with a basal rosette of flat-stalked leaves, the blade of which consists of two hinged lobes close together when irritated with a pencil or by an insect, completely trapping the latter and holding it until it is digested. The flowers are borne in a terminal cluster and are white and small. The stem or stalk is eight to twelve inches long. (Dionaea is a Greek name for Venus.)

Air Fare Reduction Ordered

A slight downward adjustment of some intra-state air fares was ordered by the California Public Utilities Commission Wednesday, because fuel costs have not increased as much as expected.

The PUC ordered PSA, United, Western, and TWA to maintain a uniform rate structure in the California market, with new fares slightly different than those fuel April 16 because of juel cost increases.

PUC spokesmen said the revisions reflect the actual fuel cost increases, as of May 1, rather than the projected fuel cost hikes on which the April 16 fare boosts were approved.

What this will mean to the flying customer is that a ticket from the San Francisco Bay Area to the Los Angeles Basin will cost $20, instead of the $20.25 approved in April.

A ticket from San Francisco to Sacramento, however, will increase from the April level of $9.50, to a new rate of $11.

PUC information officer Eugene Raleigh said the new fares are calculated to more accurately reflect the relatively higher per-passenger airline costs of shorter flights.

As a result, the highest approved fare for California is for the San Diego to Stockton flight, at $32, while the longer San Diego to Sacramento trip will cost $28.25, and the nearly equal length ride from San Diego to the Bay Area will cost $27.75.

*JCPenney Passenger Tire Guarantee:
Road Hazard and Workmanship Guarantee: Our Passenger Tires are guaranteed against failures caused by road hazard and defects in material or workmanship for the life of the original tread until worn to the wear indicators which appear when 2/32" of tread remain. If a tire fails before 10% of the original tread is used, we will replace the tire at no charge.
How adjustment is Made: In return for the tire, JCPenney will, at our option, repair or replace, it charging only for the proportion of the current selling price plus Federal Excise Tax that represents tread used.
Wear-Out Guarantee: Our Passenger Tires are guaranteed against wear-out for the number of months specified. If the tires wear down to the wear indicators, which appear when 2/32" of tread remain, we will make an adjustment. Wear-out caused by misalignment is excluded.
How Adjustment For Wear-Out Is Made: In return for the tire, JCPenney will provide a new one charging Federal Excise Tax plus the then current selling price less the following allowance:

MONTHLY GUARANTEE PERIOD	ALLOWANCE
18	10%
19 to 26	15%
27 to 35	20%
36 to 39	25%
40 and over	30%

This guaranteee applies to tires used on private passenger cars and other non-commercial vehicles only.
